Interests in health provision for trust

FORTY public and private health providers from across the country have applied to take on services at Cannock and Stafford hospitals.

A&E, maternity and intensive care could all be withdrawn from Stafford under proposals by watchdog Monitor for a £70 million downgrade.

The opportunity to provide care at the trust has been advertised in the health sector and special administrator Alan Bloom said: "I think we've had a total of approximately 40 expressions of interest."

Experts

"We will have a better idea of what each provider can offer when the deadline for submissions is over."

But Save Stafford Hospital campaigner Cheryl Porter says she believes acute services should be kept in Stafford and campaigners 'will not give up'.

Meanwhile, a team of health experts have begun to draw up alternative plans for the future of the hospital.

Consultants Durrant Ltd will be paid up to £100,000 by Stafford Borough Council to challenge Monitor's recommendations.

Reports of the firm's findings will be presented to special administrators Mr Bloom and Dr Hugo Mascie-Taylor.

Shine a light for hospitals

FAMILIES are invited to shine a light for Cannock and Stafford hospitals this weekend.

Saturday's night of light takes place at the Cannock Road car boot sale site, at Brocton, next to Burrows machinery, from 7pm. People are asked to bring torches and LED lights for an illuminated display.

Attractions include music, a climbing wall, archery and refreshments.

A free 49 seater has been laid on by Hill's Coaches. It will leave Cannock Bus Station at 6.30pm.

Darts ace calls the shots at opening of bookies

Mark Hylton and regional manager Matt George

A BETTING shop in Rugeley hit the bullseye with customers who challenged a professional darts player at its launch event.

The town's PDC darts professional, Mark 'Mile High' Hylton, took on hopefuls at the new Ladbroke's shop on Saturday.

Aaron Entwistle, interim manager at the Fernwood Drive bookies, said: "Our marketplace manager, Matt George, beat him three times - but with a 200 head start."

"Nobody actually beat him. Mark was playing off his knee and doing trick shots."

The company raised more than £280 for Help for Heroes, including a £200 donation of its own. Cpl Richard Ashley, aged 28, from Stafford, helped with a bucket collection at the shop, having returned from Afghanistan only a week earlier.

In 2005 he received severe burns to his hands and face after a roadside bomb attack in Iraq.

Mr Entwistle, who was training for the Royal Marines when he first met

Mr Ashley, said: "It was brilliant to see him back. He's done five tours to Iraq and Afghanistan in total."

"Richard has lost some good friends from the forces and he's had some serious dramas himself."

"The money we've raised will not only help deal with soldiers' physical injuries, but psychological problems, too."

"It's a massive help, even just this small amount."

Customers also enjoyed a hog roast and cake at the shop opening.

Message clear as bird nest targeted

POLICE are sending out a clear message to 'stay away' from the nesting ground of a rare falcon that has been targeted in the past.

Working with partners from the Saredon Quarry site in Sharnhall and the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, the police hope to stop egg thieves and pigeon fanciers they believe have targeted the peregrine falcons as they return to their nest in the spring.

In a bid to deter similar activity in the future police have installed CCTV, motion sensors and worked with security specialist Smartwater who have supplied signs, grease and Smartwater pipe bombs, which when triggered shower people in a special fluid linking them to the scene of the crime.

Pigeon

South Staffordshire Local Policing Team Commander, Inspector Donna Gibbs, said: "We suspect it is either someone involved in pigeon racing as the falcons feed on birds' locally, or someone who is specifically after the eggs to sell them illegally."

"Whatever the case, we are determined to catch those responsible and will continue to do everything within our power to do so."

"The message is clear - we will catch you, and you will be arrested and prosecuted - so stay away."

Snooker club closure shock

RILEYS Sports Bar in Cannock has closed suddenly. The pool and snooker club has put up a sign outside its High Green branch thanking people for their custom.

It directs customers to the nearest Rileys club in Broad Street, Wolverhampton. It is unclear how many jobs are affected by the shut down.

The closure of the Cannock branch is the latest for the group since Rileys went into administration in November last year - the second time it had done so in the last three years.

DEPUTY STEPS DOWN TO TAKE ON BURLEY

First royal visit in town for 90 years

By Will Ackermann

LABOUR'S parliamentary candidate for Cannock Chase is stepping down as deputy leader of the district council to focus on fighting Conservative MP Aidan Burley 'tooth and nail' in the next general election.

Councillor Janos Toth has also resigned from Cannock Chase District Council's cabinet to concentrate on his new 'top priority'.

Councillor Toth, who will remain as a Cannock East ward member, said: "I will fight tooth and nail to make sure that a Labour government is elected in 2015."

Inaction

The Conservative's environment spokesman for the district council say Councillor Toth may have "jumped before he was pushed" over his "inaction" towards the controversial Biffa waste plant in Heath Hayes.

Councillor Mike Sutherland said Councillor Toth, the district's environment portfolio holder, had not attended the Poplars Land-fill Site Liaison Committee last year and claimed had failed to take "any meaningful action" over other environmental issues.

Council leader George Adamson said he supported

Councillor Janos Toth

the decision to stand down. He said: "I am committed to making sure that Janos is elected as the next Labour MP for Cannock Chase."

The new deputy leader will be Councillor Mike Holder. Councillor Carl Bennett will become environment portfolio holder.

The Duke of Gloucester opens the Pye Green Community Centre. With him and Lord Lieutenant Ian Hudson Councillor Alan Pearson, chairman of the town council

Student mechanic driven to success

STUDENT mechanic Daniel Maddox is gearing up to put his skills to the test to reach finals of a national automotive competition.

The 19-year-old from Cannock, a Walsall College student, scored one of the highest marks in the country to qualify for the next round of the SkillAuto contest.

SkillAuto is part of WorldSkills, an annual competition for vocational subjects.

Daniel was competing in the practical heats of the competition being held at the Jaguar Land Rover Academy this week. He was taking on a host of other candidates in a series of theoretical and practical tests.

The young mechanic and support team with the highest score will bag a place in the national final due to be held in July. The college's automotive curriculum manager Mark Pemberton said: "We are very proud Daniel is representing the college in this competition."

"He is a very talented student who takes great pride in his work and has a great future ahead of him."

"The contest will be a great opportunity for him to showcase his skills and be tested against other students at the same level."

Daniel Maddox, aged 19, of Cannock

Fire starter avoids jail over blaze in pal's flat

A MAN who set his friend's flat in Hednesford ablaze after lighting a piece of paper to see in the dark, causing a mother and her six-month-old baby to flee for their lives, has been spared a jail sentence.

The blaze was started by Eric Bougen in his friend's flat below the home of Lindsey Whitehouse. Tenant Jon de Luca-Bossa woke up to find flames and black smoke on January 10 last year.

Passengers claim free rail tickets

CHASE Aidan Burley has welcomed the news that 25,000 rail users have claimed free tickets from London Midland as part of a compensation package.

He said: "I am pleased that so many London Midland passengers, many of whom live in Cannock Chase, have come forward and claimed their free tickets. However, London Midland need to ensure they provide a service which is right first time every time and not just compensate for their failings."

Delays

Meanwhile, trains were delayed following ongoing signal faults last week.

Services on the Rugeley to Birmingham route suffered delays on Thursday (May 9), with some London Midland services terminating at Hednesford and not calling at Rugeley Town or Rugeley Trent Valley.

Early morning and peak time trains were affected with the 8.08, 8.39 and 9.06 services starting at Hednesford rather than Rugeley Trent Valley. It was blamed on the signalling power supply being was lost intermittently, affecting all lines.

He fled the property, but Bougen was rescued from the bathroom by firefighters and taken to hospital.

Stafford crown court heard both men had been drinking and fell asleep on the settee in the living room. The court was told Mr Bossa woke up and smelled smoke. The room was pitch black and he was choking. He kicked open the back door and left.

When later questioned by police in hospital Bougen told officers he had lit some paper to see in the dark and when he woke up he was surrounded by flames.

Damage

Bougen, aged 33, of no fixed address, who earlier admitted arson being reckless as to whether life was endangered, was given an 18-month community order, on condition he spends six months in a secure centre for alcoholics in Oxford.

The fire caused more than £18,000 worth of damage to the flat, in Wilcox Avenue.

Ms Whitehouse smelled smoke and burning around 10.30pm then heard coughing and went out on to the landing to find smoke coming from Mr Bossa's flat. She woke up her partner and they escaped, together with her six-month-old baby.

Mr Stephen Bailey, defending, said Bougen had been drinking 'catastrophic' amounts. He was now resident in the centre for alcoholics and wants to get his life back in order.

Fitness staff birthday treat

Staff at Fitness First in Vine Lane, Cannock celebrates the centre's 12th birthday

STAFF at a Cannock gym are inviting people to celebrate its 12th year of business in the town this weekend.

Fitness First, in Vine Lane, will open its doors from 8.30pm until 3pm on Saturday and welcome in members and non-members to a free fun day celebrating their anniversary.

The day will include a bouncy castle, clown and fancy dress as well as competitions including dodge ball, tug of war and kids races.

Event organiser, Sarah-jayne Arblaster has worked at the gym for the last six years and with the help of her colleague Vickie Bullman, arranged the event to welcome in those who have helped with their success.

Sarah-jayne said: "All of the staff are coming in. They are all looking forward to cutting into the cake and joining in."

Housing scheme decision deferred

PLANNERS have adjourned a decision on a bid to convert a semi-detached house into two flats in Norton Canes.

Officers have asked for more time to decide on the School Road application for the house to be converted into two, one bedroomed flats with a single storey rear extension.

A 21-signature petition was sent by neighbours to council officers, claiming the build would be for financial gain, was unsuitable for this type of development, would exacerbate parking problems and would cause noise nuisance to the adjoining semi.

At a Cannock Chase Council planning meeting, neighbour Daniel Astbury said he and his fiancée had worked hard to renovate their own home, and this scheme would devalue house prices in the area.

However architect John Reynolds said they had considered neighbours, would put in adequate sound proofing, and the parking area would be big enough for three cars.

Councillors delayed the final decision so the plans could be scrutinised further.

Housing plans at pub site

AN empty Cannock pub could be knocked down and six new homes built in its place.

The Wrekin Housing Trust wants to build the properties on the site of the former Moon Under the Water in Huntington Terrace Road, Chadsmoor. The pub closed down several years ago after its licence was revoked by council bosses.

The scheme includes demolishing the pub and building five two-bedroom houses and one home with three bedrooms on the piece of land and its adjoining car park.

In plans to the council it states: "The accommodation mix has been designed to meet local housing demand."

"All are designed to meet the space standards for grant funded affordable housing."

Each new home will have two car park spaces provided under the scheme.

The pub had its licence revoked in 2009 after regular fights broke out between customers.

The pub's owners had three weeks to appeal against the decision but decided to close the venue and put it on the market.

Youths seen close to fire

POLICE are trying trace a group of young people seen near the scene of a suspected arson attack in Hednesford.

Three warehouse buildings at the former sawmill in Wimblesbury Road were gutted in the blaze.

Around 25 firefighters battled for more than three hours to bring the blaze at the disused buildings under control on May 7.

Fire investigators believe the blaze was started deliberately and the group of youths seen in the area could hold vital information.

Call Staffordshire Police on 101.

Pit stop for dogs

DOG walkers who use the Chase can find out more about the area and its future this weekend. Cannock Chase Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty is holding a Dog Pit Stop to inform owners about the Chase and what it offers. The Dog Pit Stop stand will be located at Seven Springs picnic site, off Rugeley Road, on Friday and Saturday from 8am to 2pm.

School first to join up with British Legion

Headteacher Phil Tapp, chairman Peter Jones, William Raby, Alex Skitt, Jess Batley and Howard Stemp

A PENKRIDGE school has become the first in the Midlands to join forces with the Royal British Legion.

Wolgarston High School on Cannock Road made the commitment to work with the Penkridge branch of the RBL at an assembly.

Headteacher Phil Tapp was joined by chairman Peter Jones to sign certificates of affiliation joining the school and organisation together to further the aims of the legion and recognise the needs of the armed forces and their families.

Howard Stemp, chairman of the board of governors, head boy William Raby and head girl Alex Skitt also witnessed the occasion along with Jess Batley, the youngest member of the branch.

Bombing

Her grandfather was a dedicated member of the legion serving in the fire service for most of his life, putting out incendiaries during the Second World War and helping to quell fires in Coventry after the bombing raids.

Community fundraiser Alison Bates said: "This is a historic first for the Midlands area to affiliate a local branch to a local school.

The branch and school are now working together on an event to be held on July 17. Branch members and volunteers will be speaking in school and there will be lessons and displays relating to the armed forces and the Royal British Legion all based around one historic event of the 20th century."

Membership is open to anyone over the age of 12 and a one-off payment of £5 is required. For more information call Alison on 01889 575496 or email abates@britishlegion.org.uk

Bike trails back in use after closure due to heavy snow

WORK to repair damaged sections of two popular bike trails on Cannock Chase has been completed, more than a month after heavy snowfall caused them to close.

Branches fell on to both the Follow the Dog and Monkey trails under the weight of the deluge that fell in the region over the Easter period.

Staff at the Birches Valley Forest Centre, where the trails are based, launched a clean-up operation to move the debris and the routes were closed for some time because of safety concerns. Contractors were also brought in to help out.

Branches

The maintenance work has now finished.

Gary Kelsey, recreational manager at Birches Valley, said: "Everything is back to normal now. The heavy snow falling on the trees meant the branches were snapping off and falling onto the trails. We had to clear it as it was pretty dangerous."

"Since then we've had contractors out removing all the tree branches. The trails are all open now."

Despite the trails being reopened, there is still a 10 per cent section of each route that is closed due to general conservation works

by Laura Blyth

being carried out by the Forestry Commission at Cannock Chase.

Conservation works have been ongoing for around seven or eight months. A team of volunteers go out each Sunday to carry out general maintenance.

There are 14 miles of bike trails at Cannock Chase. They attract keen cyclists from across the country.

As well as the Follow the Dog and Monkey trails, designed for experienced mountain bikers, there are also three cycle trails designed for leisure cyclists and families. These trails are open all year round and are free of charge.

The leisure trails have been developed from the long-established family routes around the Chase. They include the Birches Valley, Fair Oak Pools and Sherbrook Valley trails.

Grant enables church to open new toilet facilities

NEW toilets have been unveiled at a Burntwood church. A new unisex toilet and a disabled access toilet with baby changing area were launched at Christ Church on May 6 following the world's shortest fun run at Prince's Park.

Many groups meet at the church, including a solo group, which provides a support network for the widowed and single. Part of the funding for the project came from The Veolia Environmental Trust who awarded a grant of £3,324 through the Landfill Communities Fund.

Church warden Michael Holmes said: "We are delighted that the project is now finished."

Five generations from Cannock, Minnie Rowlands, aged 89, Anita Shipley, 63, Suzanne Connor, 40, Carrie Thacker, aged 22 and 14-weeks-old Emilia

A high five for family

THE birth of a baby girl was cause for a double celebration for one Cannock family when they welcomed their fifth generation to the world.

Hairdresser Carrie-Ann Thacker, aged 22, of Waterbrook Way, Bridgtown, gave birth to Emilia Grace Barker at Walsall Manor Hospital, weighing 6lb 14oz.

Now 14-weeks-old, Emilia the first child of 28-year-old Christopher Barker and Miss Thacker, who works at Lords & Ladies hairdressers in Station Street, Cheslyn Hay.

The five generations, who are all girls, is made up of great-great grandmother Minnie Rowlands, aged 89, of Cannock; great grandmother Anita Shipley, 63, of Stoke-on-Trent; and grandmother Suzanne Connor, 40, of Elizabeth Road, Cannock.

She said: "Carrie-Ann and Christopher were very excited to welcome their first child into the world. We were all really excited about it."

"It's unusual that you get girls for all five generations of one family."

"All five generations of our family regularly get together and enjoy spending time with each other."

NEWS

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

JUST back from five days in Rome, I encounter a curious phenomenon which tends to happen after holidays. The bathroom scales have malfunctioned.

□□□□□□□□

I USED to travel a lot but it takes only a couple of Boeing-free years to forget the first rule of being abroad: The friendlier the locals seem, the more careful you should be. In the Via Cavour, like an idiot, I nodded vaguely at some grinning waiter's offer of "a very special wine for you" and was landed with an £18 bill for a half-bottle of dismal plonk before you could say Rimini. Later, a fawning café manager, smarming around the tables like a buttered snail, became our new best friend and offered me a complimentary glass of grappa. Examining the bill later, we found my free drink cost me £5. Lessons? Agree to nothing until you have seen the menu. Always ask for the "official receipt," not the scribbled scrap they prefer. And always decline the bread basket (no pane, grazie), unless you seriously want to pay £3 for four slices.

□□□□□□□□

MY indignation at getting ripped off was made much more bearable by the usually canny Mrs Rhodes's purchase of a tiny travel torch from a Roman shopkeeper. He smiled sweetly and rooked her for £10. It reminded me of the old guide to haggling in foreign parts: If they ask 10, they mean eight, so they want six and it's worth four, so you offer two. It rarely works but it's fun.

□□□□□□□□

WE WERE in Rome at the same time as Roger Bannister and three other Brits from Wordsley who hit the headlines this week for being charged £54 for four portions of ice-cream. A Rome city councillor has described it as a scandal but the ice-cream stall owner, utterly unrepentant, says: "No-one forced them to order big ice-creams." True enough. And no-one forces tourists to go to Rome. The city's economy is stagnant and the Romans desperately need tourist money. It doesn't take too many stories like Roger Bannister's to make other trippers decide to go elsewhere.

□□□□□□□□

MAY 16 has been designated National Aperitif Day. I assume it's sponsored by the British Dental Association.

□□□□□□□□

CHARACTERS of our time. Columnist Mary Riddell identifies the saviour Labour has in mind to mend the broken economy. The Growth Fairy.

□□□□□□□□

THE DUCHESS of Cornwall attended the State Opening of Parliament, wore a tiara and sat close to the Queen. She becomes more regal with every public event. Yet the Prince of Wales's official website is still insisting: "It is intended that The Duchess will be known as HRH The Princess Consort when The Prince of Wales accedes to The Throne." Does anyone seriously believe this? Bit by bit, as memories of Diana fade, our nation is being groomed for the prospect of Queen Camilla. And whyever not?

FIGURES obtained under the Freedom of Information Act reveal that hundreds of thousands of crimes, including 90 per cent of thefts from vehicles in London, are "screened out" by police as not being worth detailed investigation. A spokesman for the Association of Chief Police Officers says: "It should be emphasised that any crime that presents solvability factors should receive appropriate investigation." Does anyone investigate crimes against the English language?

FOR more than 4,000 football fans on Saturday, there was only one place to be - and it wasn't Wembley.

Joyous scenes followed Hedsnesford Town's 2-1 victory over FC United of Manchester as the Pitmen clinched a long-awaited promotion. There was a hint of trouble, however, but that didn't dampen the spirits of the Pitmen faithful as fans and players celebrated added the play-off victory that added to the two trophies already won this season.

The club's black and white army of fans spilled on to the Keys Park pitch to celebrate as supporters in the stands sang 'We love you Hedsnesford, we do'.

The occasion was marred by minor skirmishes leading to three arrests after the game. In a separate incident a Hedsnesford Town fan was injured by a missile thrown from the away stand.

But nothing was going to spoil the party for the delirious home fans who flooded the pitch at the final whistle to mob players and club officials.

Four corner flags were stolen by fans who invaded the pitch in jubilant scenes. Three have been returned following an amnesty launched by the club on social media sites Twitter and Facebook.

Secretary Terry McMahon has appealed for the fourth to be handed back. It wasn't until the excitement had died down and the fans had left the stadium that club officials noticed the flags, which cost £7 and bear the club logo, had disappeared.

After the game, the beer and bubbly flowed in the club bar, where staff had prepared fajitas and jerk chicken at the special request of the players. It was the least they could do to celebrate the club's promotion from the Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division at the fourth time of asking.

Hedsnesford were 2-0 up at half time but were pegged back in the second half, ensuring a nervy finale.

Ecstatic

Among the ecstatic home supporters was 19-year-old Danielle Xenophonotos who had travelled from Stockport with an army of family and friends to watch her uncle, midfielder Nathan Woolfe, who came on as a substitute.

She was one of the hundreds who invaded the pitch at the end. "I ruined a new pair of shoes it was that muddy but it was worth it," she said.

"We were all on the edge of our seats for the last few minutes. It was tense. When the whistle went everyone went mental, jumping up and down, and cheering. I almost broke my toe when someone landed on it. I videoed the game, including the trophy presentation which was right by us." Neil Hornby, whose 18-year-old son Sam is the Pitmen's youth team goalkeeper, said the game provided plenty of excitement.

Mr Hornby, 46, of Sutton Coldfield, a full-time coach at Burton Albion Academy, said: "There was only one team in it in the first half but then they came back at us. I have to say their support was very good but our fans were brilliant. It was a well deserved win."

He added he had seen some trouble. "There was bit of naughtiness, both from frustrated FC United fans and from our supporters goading them a bit but no actual fisticuffs that I saw."

Assistant manager Chris Brindley, landlord of the Cross Keys pub in Hill Street, said 'a handful of idiots' were involved in minor scuffles.

"It was people who don't follow the team week in, week out. Given the attendance, the crowd was well behaved. The police were excellent and nipped any problems in the bud."

Inspector Darren Oakey, of Staffordshire Police, said three arrests were made in separate incidents just outside the ground after the match. It has not been revealed whether they were home or away supporters.

The average gate at the 6,000-seater Keys Park is around 500 and the club's biggest ever home game crowd stood at 3,216 before Saturday.

Speeders stopped in tracks by police

SPEEDING drivers were stopped in their tracks by Cannock police officers.

Officers from Cannock Chase Local Policing Team carried out checks on a number of vehicles using roads in Cannock Wood, Ravensley, Hazel Slade and Hedsnesford on Sunday. The operation followed complaints about speeding.

Eleven motorists received £60 fixed penalty notices for speeding while three received the same fine for driving without seat belts. More than 30 were given educational leaflets about the consequences of speeding.

Chief Inspector Carlton Ratcliffe, Cannock Chase LPT Commander, said: "This is the latest in a series of operations we've carried out to clamp down on speeding across Cannock Chase in recent months."

"We've responded to residents' concerns about irresponsible driving in particular streets and will continue to do so as the need arises."

"Road safety is a top priority for local officers and our partners. People who put pedestrians and other motorists at risk will be dealt with firmly."

Man struck on rail line

A MAN has died after being struck by a train in Rugeley.

The man was hit by a Manchester to London passenger service at Rugeley Trent Valley station on Monday morning.

Officers from British Transport Police and the Staffordshire force were alerted to reports of an incident at 10.30am.

Paramedics also attended but the man was pronounced dead at the scene. The death is not being treated as suspicious.

The incident caused some delays.

MP backs measures on foreign criminals

MEASURES to deport foreign criminals and cut access to benefits for immigrants are "long overdue", according to Chase MP Aidan Burley.

He said he was glad to see immigration at the heart of the Queen's speech to mark the state opening of parliament. The speech outlined the government's plans for the coming year.

Mr Burley said measures were needed to ease the burden on NHS services.

He said: "Given that we have a hospital in Stafford that is struggling to cope with a major deficit, it has been galling to see centres in some parts of the country receiving funding to pay for treatment for those who have just arrived in the country and have made no contribution towards the NHS."

"And the subject of foreign criminals that we cannot kick out has been a long-running cause for complaint in my constituency mailbag, which I have passed on regularly to ministers over the last two years."

"The last Labour government didn't just have an open door for immigrants, they positively encouraged them to come by offering them the benefits that we had all paid for."

Death ruling on ex-miner

AN ex-miner who worked down the pit for almost four decades died from breathing in lethal coal dust, an inquest heard.

Arthur Edwards was employed at Littleton Colliery in Huntington, until he retired in 1986.

The inquest at Cannock Coroner's Court ruled his illness was result of his 38 years in the mining industry. Mr Edwards, of View Street, Hednesford, who was 85, died on January 9. A verdict of industrial disease was recorded.

Choir performs

THE Alston Singers – a choir of some 45 voices from Stafford – performs in Rugeley this weekend. The concert takes place on Saturday, May 18 at St. Pauls Methodist/United Reformed Church Lichfield Street, from 7.30pm. Entry is £5on the door with light refreshments included.

Charity plea to find loving homes for guinea pigs

RSPCA volunteer Becky Weeks, aged 26, from Cannock

AN ANIMAL charity has launched an urgent appeal for homes after becoming inundated with guinea pigs.

Walsall RSPCA currently has more than 30 of the furry creatures in its care after rescuing 20 from a property in the borough.

All of the creatures have been closely monitored for the past 11 weeks on 'pregnancy watch' but are now ready to move on and are seeking loving homes.

Charity volunteers called for people considering getting a guinea pig to think of Walsall RSPCA first and not just head for the pet shop. Last weekend, Walsall RSPCA staged a rabbit and guinea pig awareness day at Aldridge Community Centre, in Midlemore Lane, to give people the chance to meet some of the pets.

Website

It also gave the charity the chance to raise some much-needed funds by selling home-made cakes and refreshments.

Becky Weeks, aged 26, of Cannock, is one of the charity's volunteers. She said: "Because we don't have an animal centre in the Walsall area, and all of our animals are cared for in foster homes, our only way of advertising our animals for rehoming is via our branch website and on Facebook."

"The open day gave the public an opportunity to meet some of the rabbits and guinea pigs who are looking for their forever homes."

Walsall RSPCA is also keen to hear from anyone who wants to become a rabbit or guinea pig fosterer.

Call the branch on 0845 272 3570 or send an email to enquiries@Rspca-walsall.org.uk

Gambling addict stole from girlfriend to pay off debts

A GAMBLING addict who stole more than £4,000 from his girlfriend to pay off his debts has been spared an immediate jail term

Andrew Dowdeswell, of Great Wyrley, took out online loans in the name of his then partner Danielle Wright and spent thousands of pounds using her bank cards to manage debts of £15,000.

Tattooist is inspired to raise funds

A TATTOOIST helped to raise £1,500 during a fundraising drive after being inspired by a teenager with incurable cancer.

Timo McGrath, who runs Studio 42 in Chase Terrace, organised a fundraiser to collect cash for the Teenage Cancer Trust following a meeting with 18-year-old Stephen Sutton of Burntwood.

The teenager, a student at Chase Terrace Technology College, has an incurable form of cancer and has compiled a list of 46 things he wants to do.

Surfing

Getting a tattoo was included on the bucket list, alongside starring as an extra in a film, or music video, and crowd surfing in a rubber dinghy.

Mr McGrath, aged 29, of Chase Terrace, asked if he could help, inviting the teenager to his studio at unit 1A Morley Road.

He tattooed a troll under Stephen's arm, and last weekend created cancer awareness ribbon tattoos with all the money raised passed on to the Teenage Cancer Trust.

The 33-year-old financial services worker, of Achilles Close, was under pressure at work and turned to gambling when he feared losing his house, Cannock Magistrates' Court heard.

But when huge losses began to stack up he decided to plunder Miss Wright's bank accounts and made fake loan applications in her name to Wizzcash and QuickQuid worth thousands of pounds, the court heard.

Dowdeswell admitted two counts of fraud by false representation and two counts of theft, totalling £4,635.

Confronted

Prosecuting, Mr Giles Rowden said: "The victim is Danielle Wright who was in a relationship with the defendant. She received information from a loan company that a loan had been taken out in her name and her card details used."

"She confronted the defendant and he admitted he had taken out the loans in her name and card details to fund a gambling addiction."

Dowdeswell was handed a six week prison sentence suspended for 12 months. He was ordered to pay £85 court costs, an £80 victim surcharge, and must complete 200 hours of unpaid community work.

Defending, Mr Paris Theodorou said: "In his lack of wisdom he has lost his job, his girlfriend and is now having a humbling day in court."

Gladiator ready to open fitness centre

Jet Diane Youdale, with Energie Fitness instructor Jemma Coleman and owners Carl Ziemann and Louise Smith

FORMER Gladiator Jet has helped a Cannock health club open its doors to new members.

Diane Youdale, who appeared in the popular television series in the 1990s, cut the ribbon to officially open the Energie Fitness for Women club in Hollies Park Road.

The club, which targets older women who feel intimidated by gyms, was recently re-opened by new owners.

Ms Youdale officially opened the centre and spoke to visitors about the club and benefits of keeping fit and healthy, as well as talking about changing how you think about food.

Co-owner Carl Ziemann said: "It was really great to have her visit us and she said some very positive things. She spent quite a few hours here and was happy to pose for photos with everyone."

Profile

"Diane spoke about having a healthy lifestyle and really inspired all of us. It was lovely to have her here and we want to thank her for the visit, she did really well to boost our profile."

The club closed without warning last year. But new owners Mr Ziemann and Louise Smith, have reassured ladies they are here for the long term. They also stressed they had no connection with the former management.

"We are working hard to increase our positive profile and attract new members to the club, Mr Ziemann said. "So we are having lots of activities to encourage people to come along."

He added: "It's a great place for ladies to come and they can do short bursts of exercise."

"We also have a social event once a month."

IN MY VIEW

HERE'S one for the technically savvy, cost-conscious music lovers among you.

The financial website love-money.com reports on an exciting new way to listen to music, and all completely free of charge.

"The Twitter app analyses tweets to decide what music users will like. You can also see what kind of music your favourite artists are listening to and find out about emerging 'artists which are 'hidden in the tweets'," it tells us.

Apparently, the 'Twitter app' lets you listen to a preview of a song, but to hear it in full you'll have to go to Spotify, Rdio or iTunes.

Now, I have no idea what any of that means, but it does sound good. Learn it off by heart and recite it in the right circles, and you will boost your street cred no end as a young, happening dude with your finger on the pulse of modern culture and technology. However, I can foresee one or two problems.

First of all, while I don't know precisely what a 'Twitter app' is, I am fairly certain it requires either a computer or one of those funny phones with a touch-screen the size of a television. For those who own neither, this 'free music' does not sound very free at all.

But secondly, I don't think this is actually very new. I have had a small portable device which allows me to listen to unlimited free music for many years.

It's called a radio.

WHO'D be David Moyes, eh? Well in a job where some managers make millions simply by getting the sack, quite a few of us actually.

But while he has achieved remarkable things in his 11 years at Everton, he will find expectations much higher at Manchester United.

Those fans in the Home Counties are notoriously hard to please.

INCIDENTALLY, Sir Alex Ferguson was presented with a gold watch to mark his retirement. In a blistering farewell speech, he complained it was seven minutes fast.

TALKING of gold, did you clock the bling Prince Charles was wearing at the State opening of Parliament?

Given that, unlike his father and younger brother Andrew, he has never been decorated for war service, one does wonder how he has earned all those medals. Maybe he bought them off Gordon Brown when he was selling our gold off cheap.

Perhaps it gives us a clue to how the Government is going to fund all those promises made during the Queen's speech. Charlie's off to Cash Converters.

Injured footballer who still delivers

Determined delivery boy Keegan was not going to let a broken leg stop people getting their Chronicle as CHARLOTTE LILLEY explains

AFTER breaking your leg in two places the last thing you would want to do is deliver 170 newspapers, but that is exactly what one 16-year-old from Wolverhampton has been doing for the last two months.

Keegan Leary of Brook Close in Coven, has high hopes of becoming a professional footballer and has been playing for PRD United, which is managed by his father Andrew, since the age of seven.

But after a tackle during the last 10 seconds of a crucial cup final game against Shire Oak in December last year, his dreams were shattered.

The Codsall Football Academy student was rushed to hospital where his worst fears were confirmed, he had broken his fibula, tibia and shattered his shin.

Doctors said it would be a year before he would be able to play again and told him to forget about delivering the Wolverhampton Chronicle each week, something which he has been doing since the age of 13.

Heartbreaking

Keegan says: "I was devastated. I knew my injuries were serious because I was in a lot of pain. I had to have an operation where plates were put in my ankle and I had screws inserted where my joint was. It was a nasty break."

"Doctors told me I would be out of football for a long time which was heartbreaking to hear because I had been playing really well up until then."

"To add insult to injury, I wasn't able to deliver the Wolverhampton Chronicle on my paper round which I have been doing for almost four years. I always make sure I deliver the paper whether it is raining, snowing or sunny outside, so I was really fed up."

After a few of months indoors on crutches, Keegan decided it was time to get back outside delivering the newspaper.

He started off by delivering to a few houses at first with the help of his parents, but as his leg began to heal, he was able to deliver to up to three streets at a time.

Keegan enjoys his normal weekly newspaper round

He says: "My mum and dad had been delivering the paper for me while I was recovering but I was glad to start doing it again. A lot of the people I deliver to had been asking where I was and one lady even gave me a card."

"Delivering the Chronicle really cheered me up. It took my mind off football and gave me something to do that I enjoyed. I always read the paper, particularly the sport section to keep up to date with what is going on in football and I really enjoy going on my rounds because it brings in a bit of money which is important for young people my age.

Talented - Keegan with some of his footballing trophies

So grateful - Keegan with his mum and dad, Alison and Andrew

"I think my parents were worried that I was doing too much too soon and were concerned about how heavy the bag was going to be, but I knew I could do it."

Surprised

Keegan's mother Alison says: "I think Keegan's dad and I were more frightened about the break than he was. We were a bit reluctant about him doing his paper round in case the bag was too heavy for him but he was adamant that it was something he wanted to do."

"He has been delivering the Chronicle since he was 13. It's great because it brings in money for him"

Keegan, whose father Andrew also works in the Chronicle's distribution department, has since started physiotherapy and is hoping to be back on the pitch when footballing season begins again in September.

He says: "I was given the all clear and told everything was looking good last month. I have since started physio which is helping me a lot."

"I think I have surprised doctors at how fast I have recovered. It is probably my eagerness to get back out there and back to normal which has helped. I have recently started football training again."

"My parents have been great all the way through."

THROUGH THE YEARS

1983...

THE West Midlands was at the centre of the General Election battle after Labour deputy leader Denis Healey accused the Prime Minister of wrecking the region. At a crowded meeting at West Bromwich town hall, Mr Healey said Mrs Thatcher had given the area the lowest standard of living in the country.

A 13TH century house in Wombourne was turned into a country pub for the television cameras. The Wodehouse was used by Central Television as a backdrop for the comedy series The Other 'A'.

A BILSTON man slammed Wolverhampton council's promise to collect garden waste for pensioners as "a load of rubbish." Joseph Perrins said he had waited three months for the refuse depot to remove eight bags of leaves from his garden.

1993...

A MAJOR campaign was launched to save free travel passes for nearly half a million pensioners in the region. West Midlands PTA and the Pensioners' Convention joined forces in an attempt to persuade the government to change the way it funded public transport.

UNEMPLOYMENT figures in Wolverhampton soared past the 20,000 mark, confirming its reputation as the jobs blackspot of the West Midlands. Council chiefs blamed the figures on a sharp decline in the region's manufacturing sector.

A PERTON pensioner was reunited with his sister - 53 years after his family was split up by the Russian invasion of Poland. Jan Bobrownicki was delighted to meet his sister Irena, having been told his family were all dead after he arrived in Britain in 1947.

2003...

A WOLVERHAMPTON mechanic swapped his spanner for hot water and towels when his partner gave birth in his living room. Greg Owen followed phone instructions from a midwife as he helped to deliver his 9lb 3oz daughter Katie Anne.

A WOLVERHAMPTON City Council payroll clerk put her calculator away - after almost 50 years with the authority. Joyce Durkin retired as the council's longest-serving member of staff having joined the payroll department in 1953.

THE DRINK that first whetted Brits' appetites for lager faced a sharp exit after brewery bosses announced it was winding down production. Wolverhampton and Dudley Breweries, which brewed and distributed Harp, announced the tipple would only be available in a limited number of pubs.

Market traders' bench tribute to former boss

On the bench in Tony Duckmanton's memory at Rugeley Indoor Market is his partner Carol Hutchinson, aged 58, with her daughters: Kerry Povey, 37 and Becky Jarvis, 39 from Rugeley, and market traders at the back

A NEW wooden bench has been unveiled by traders at Rugeley Market in memory of their former manager.

Tony Duckmanton lost his fight with cancer in January at the age of 66. He had worked at Rugeley Indoor Market for more than 10 years.

Traders there started a collection when he passed away and managed to raise around £350 to pay for the bench.

One of the stallholders, Margaret Mills, who was also a friend of Mr

Duckmanton, said it was a fitting tribute to such a 'well liked' man.

She said: "We thought a bench would be a nice way to remember Tony. It looks beautiful."

"Tony was very well liked around the market. He was very helpful and used to come in on his days off to help out."

Engraved

She said a picture of Mr Duckmanton would soon be put up on the wall just above the new bench. Mr Duckmanton started working at the market as the security guard and worked his way up to market manager. He retired in December 2012 due to his ill health.

The bench has been installed next to one of the market entrances and engraved with Mr Duckmanton's name, date of birth and the date he died.

Mr Duckmanton was originally from Stoke but moved to Rugeley before he started working at the market. A bench is also being unveiled in his honour at Cannock Market this weekend.

Tougher stance is called for on smells

IT seems there continues to be complaints about the Anaerobic Digestion Plant. Residents living around there are entitled to a decent living environment and must be protected from foul smelling odours.

If the problem cannot be sorted, the Environment Agency must act responsibly and take tough enforcement action. I have been dealing with residents' concerns about the Poplars Landfill for over 20 years and the way forward is to take tough prosecution action.

Biffa must not be left off the hook if they fail to bring their house in order and any voluntary self-regulation would not now be acceptable. Ultimately, this could mean shutting the AD Plant down and moving it to a more appropriate location and I would support this course of action if needed.

Too many fail to clear up after dogs

I REFER to the letter from Mac Singleton of Hednesford (Chronicle, May 2) and can only express my total disgust at his solution for the way pet owners should deal with their dog mess.

The Dogs (Fouling of Land) Act 1996 makes it an offence not to remove any faeces deposited by your dog. It applies to all land open to the air that has public access, whether or not warning signs are displayed.

It is by far unacceptable to use a stick and flick the "offending items into the undergrowth", as he suggests. Contrary to Mr Singleton's thinking, people do walk off the paths and into undergrowth as happens in Cavans Wood and other parts of Cannock Chase.

There are too many people who walk dogs for a living or for pleasure who have no regard for our lovely woodlands and do not clear up after these animals. There are also health implications. Dog mess carries disease and is particularly dangerous. I'm sure those who work on Cannock Chase equally do not wish to tread in this during the course of their working day.

How would Mr Singleton like to carry the "offending item" on his shoes and tread it into his hall carpet?

My solution is that all dog owners/walkers should pick it up and take it home to their own bin. Your dog is your responsibility.

To move on is easy way out

I'M SURE the Chadsmoor Line Dancers are sincere in their sympathy for the victims of the Stafford Hospital scandal (Letters, April 26), but I am equally sure they would be singing a different tune had a member of their families had died needlessly at the Stafford Hospital.

To "move on" is the easy way out.

Stafford Borough Council is now asking the Crown Prosecution Service to consider the case of the two ex-managers at Stafford Hospital Martin Yeates and Toni Brisby for misconduct.

The NHS is too important to ignore the findings of the Francis Report.

No one questions the good work of the nursing staff at Stafford Hospital but justice must be done and seen to be done and those responsible for the disastrous situation at Stafford Hospital to be held to account.

Only then can we "move on".

Praise as opponents run clean campaign

I WOULD like to thank everyone who voted for me on May 2 for the Cannock Town Centre Division of Staffordshire County Council. I am pleased to have been elected and I will work hard for local residents over the next four years to make sure Cannock Chase gets its fair share of money.

I would like to thank my opponents for running clean and fair campaigns and wish the former incumbent Pat Corfield all the best for the future.

Tory cuts designed to privatise the NHS

SO, Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley is banging the drum for Cannock Hospital. However, contrary to his claims and campaign front to protect the hospital from cuts or closure, the only drum he is really banging is full of Tory cuts and broken promises, leaving Cannock Hospital cash-strapped, under-staffed and at the mercy of the free market economy.

The Health & Social Care Act has freed government control from the NHS and ended its obligation to provide free patient care and treatment for all.

The act and the current £20 billion of cuts are the opposite to what the Tories promised us at the last election, and are without doubt broken manifesto pledges. In my opinion both the act and the cuts have been designed to privatise the NHS, and no matter what Mr Burley claims, I believe he and the Tory government are partly responsible for the ongoing demise of the NHS as we know it.

Last year the event attracted around 2,000 visitors and featured a choice of ales from local brewers including Slaters Ales, of Stafford, Alton-based Peakstones Rock Brewing Company, Blythe Brewery, of Lichfield, and White Shield, of Burton on Trent.

Foods on offer will include breads, pastries, pickles, chutneys and savoury eggs, with hot food also available. Entertainment will be on tap with live music from a host of local bands who will perform everything from jazz to indie rock.

Threat over no insurance

DRIVERS with no insurance face having their cars seized and scrapped as part of a tough new crackdown.

The Motor Insurance Bureau has identified four hotspots across Staffordshire for uninsured drivers and Cannock is among them.

Police bosses have pledged to get tough on those who get behind the wheel without cover and have warned they could be fined or even disqualified. Automatic number plate recognition cameras will be used to track down culprits. Staffordshire's new police and crime commissioner Matthew Ellis said: "It's time these law breakers were caught and dealt with."

Scrapped

"Anyone driving without insurance on our roads could face having their car seized and scrapped.

"Those people who don't insure their vehicles and drive them on our roads are totally irresponsible and also costing the rest of us money."

Under the Cars Behind Bars scheme, drivers could see their vehicles seized and could be given a £200 fine and six penalty points.

They could even be summoned to court and could be disqualified from driving. They would only get their cars back if they got insurance, otherwise, the vehicles could be crushed or auctioned.

Ch Supt Jon Drake said: "It is estimated that uninsured motorists kill 130 people and injure 26,500 every year in this country."

NEWSAward builds on Lovell's reputation*Monarch Park site manager Carl Deakin and Roy Stewart, director of constructing excellence in the North West

HOUSEBUILDER Lovell has won an award for its new development in Cannock. The company's work in Dudley and on seven other sites in the region was also recognised at the Considerate Constructors Awards.

Lovell is behind the Monarch Park development off Elizabeth Road in Cannock the Priory Park scheme off Tipton Road, Dudley. Regional director David Gough was delighted with the awards. He said: "These awards are genuinely difficult to achieve so I am delighted and very proud of the service delivery teams at Monarch Park and Priory Park."

"You don't win these awards by simply paying lip-service to the idea, it has to be a 24 hours a day, 365 days a year commitment. Receiving these awards is recognition for the individuals and teams that work so hard day-in, day-out."

Footpath bid thrown outPLANNERS have again thrown out proposals for a new footpath at a Hednesford school as it would shatter the peace of nearby residents.

Staffordshire University Academy, formerly Blake Valley Technology College, had applied for the second time to Cannock Chase Council for a new pedestrian footpath for students to walk into a newly built entrance.

Rather than youngsters walking in via the original entrance in Marston

Road, plans were put forward for a new path built to take them through Marina Crescent. At a planning meeting last week, council leader George Adamson and a number of residents, raised objections, saying there would be increased noise and litter from the 720 students using the road.

Injured

Principal David Evans said there had been two occasions in the past five years where students had been injured by cars crossing at the Marston Road junction, and he had given planning officers an opportunity to look at other alternatives. He said the gate would be open for just an hour before and after school for pupils, locked at other times, and at least four members of staff would patrol the area.

Mr Evans added they had never had any problems from neighbours on Marston Road over noise or litter.

However Councillor Adamson said: "It is a small, quiet cul-de-sac and it would cause utter disruption to these people's lives."

Jobs boost as discount retailer to open doors

A NEW discount store is creating 79 jobs in Cannock and was set to open its doors today (Thursday).

B&M Stores was due to open up at the former Lidl and Littlewoods store in what has been described as a much-needed boost for the town.

Store manager John Paddock said he was excited about the opening. Of the 79 new jobs created, 90 per cent were given to the long-term unemployed, after the company received 1,200 applications.

Mr Paddock said: "Some of our staff have been unemployed for around five years, and some even haven't been given the chance of employment. It has made my year to be able to do this and give them the jobs."

Fantastic

Cannock Council leader George Adamson hailed the opening as a 'fantastic jobs boost' for the town.

"It is great news for Cannock and the fact they will be giving jobs to the long-term unemployed and helping in that way is great," he said.

Three new members of staff were formerly employed by Lidl and Littlewoods on the site.

Kath Hawkins, aged 47 of Huntington, worked for nine years at Littlewoods until it closed in September 2011. She has struggled to find work since being made redundant.

"It is strange that I am working back on the site but really good. I have tried to get a job since Littlewoods and have sent off so many applications but

Some of the 79 new workers taken by B&M for its Cannock store opening haven't been lucky. It is fantastic being back in employment and back in retail," she said.

Chelsea Sherriff, of Rugeley, and Jake Allen from Great Wyrley, both aged 19, have struggled to find employment since leaving education.

Miss Sherriff said: "I have sent off loads of applications so am really excited to have this job."

Mr Allen added: "I have wanted to start work since finishing college but haven't been able to find anything."

It was also revealed the company would be looking to recruit more staff on a temporary contract basis, with a view to making them full time.

Mr Paddock, who has worked for B&M for two years, was originally the manager of the Hednesford store. He will be bringing along with him six experienced staff from that shop, while those positions will be replaced with nine new workers.

B&M has 331 stores across the country, up from just 20 stores six years ago. The Cannock store will specialise in paints, wallpaper, soft furnishings, home wares and gardening goods.

Booze sales from petrol station may be blocked

POLICE have stepped in to stop a petrol station in Rugeley from selling alcohol almost around the clock, seven days a week.

Officers say granting a drinks licence to Rugeley service station in Brereton would attract crime and disorder and make residents' lives a misery.

The firm wants to be able to sell alcohol for 17 hours daily, from 6am to 11pm, Monday through to Sunday. The premises is open round the clock, but police argue the business in Main Road is primarily a petrol station.

They say it is excluded under the law from selling alcohol and have asked the applicant, Rontec Watford Limited, based in Jersey, for evidence of the primary use of the business.

Proof

Police licensing officer Jennifer Mellor said the applicant had failed to send her proof of the type of business it and said Cannock Chase Council had to decide whether it would grant a drinks licence without any proof as to the main use of the premises.

In support of its application, the firm argues that CCTV would be installed with cameras covering the entrance and the alcohol display area and staff would refuse to sell drink to under-

25s. Eighteen months ago, police licensing officers blocked moves the Malthurst service station in Western Springs Road, Rugeley, which wanted a 24-hour drinks licence.

The sale of alcohol is banned at motorway service stations but is often sold legally at petrol stations and garages.

The charity Alcohol Concern has queried whether such sales are "in the best interest of all road users."

Police manager Andrew Misell said: "Motorists have many opportunities to purchase alcohol from premises other than petrol stations, such as off-licences and supermarkets, but we need to think carefully about whether making alcohol available at petrol stations is in the best interest of all road users."

The matter was being decided at a licensing meeting yesterday (Wednesday).

Heath Hayes Art Society members Dorothy Bishop, Mary Carpenter, Dave Wilkinson and Gill Turner with artwork

WORK by an amateur art group has gone on show at Cannock Library. The exhibition showcases more than 20 pieces from paintings to pastel pictures, produced by members of Heath Hayes Art Society.

The group meets every Monday at Heath Hayes Library with members aged from their late 20s to their 80s and has been running for more than two decades. It holds two exhibitions each year and has a waiting list for potential members.

Society chairman Mary Carpenter said: "It is always nice to exhibit what we have been working on."

The work will be displayed upstairs at the Manor Avenue venue throughout May. Some of the items will be for sale.

Ellastone walk location

AN EIGHT-mile moderate walk at Ellastone near the Weaver Hills is this weekend's offering by the Chase & District Ramblers. They will meet at Hedgesford rail station car park, Anglesey Street, for a prompt 9am departure on Sunday, May 19. They will follow it up with an evening walk on Wednesday, May 22. Meeting point for the four-to-five-mile walk in the heart of the Chase is at the car park opposite the White House at 7.30pm.

Sombre side of policing

Long-serving trio are honoured for loyalty

BURNTWOOD WI

THE last meeting began with the singing of Jerusalem, and two new members and two visitors were welcomed.

Cakes were given out by Judith to celebrate her son's wedding and then she gave the minutes of the last meeting which were accepted.

Those that went to the Homes and Gardens Day at Stafford all said what a great day it was. The choir sang at Hawkesyard Priory Nursing Home and they were very well received and enjoyed. The birthday meal at the Terrace was a lovely night great food and good company.

The speaker for the evening was Caz Bailey whose talk "If you can't stand the heat get out of the kitchen" was nothing to do with cooking but in fact Caz's experiences as a police officer in the West Midlands from 1970 until 2002. It was a wonderful insight into life as a woman in the force at a time there were so few.

She related some of the amusing cases she had to deal with and the more sombre side of policing dealing with sad cases. Joan Marson thanked Caz for a very entertaining talk.

Veronica Box is going to represent Burntwood at the National AGM and the competition for the oldest book was won by Wendy Dunn. Her book was 170 years old. Ron's "thought for the month" closed the evening.

Presidents Carole Holdcroft and Eileen Cryer present a certificate to Maggie Shore

THREE members of SI Cannock & District have been presented with long service certificates.

Their service to the club was acknowledged at the AGM by out-going team presidents Carole Holdcroft and Eileen Cryer.

Maggie Shore received a certificate marking 30 years as a Soroptimist, Georgina Ward received a certificate for her 40 years and Dora Leighton's 45 years as a member of the organisation was also honoured. Georgina and Dora have both served on many committees and have taken the role of club president. Both continue to take an active part in club life with Dora now 97 and Georgina, 90, attending all club functions and adding their views to discussion and debate.

Presidents Carole and Eileen thanked them all for their continued loyalty.

Pet-sitters 'barking mad'

'BARKING Mad' - that was the talk given to the ladies of Chasetown Women's Institute at their April meeting.

Speaker Chris Whereat, together with her close friend Ollie, told hilarious tales about the trials and tribulations of their pet-sitting business. Pet owners invite Chris into their homes while they are on holiday to look after their pets - f - but she 'doesn't do snakes'!

Ollie invites the pets to stay in her own home.

In either case, the results can be both rewarding and funny. Following the highly entertaining talk, the ladies were served with tea, coffee and cakes.

The group meets at 7pm on the third Wednesday of each month in the Old Mining College in Chasetown.

Mobile app is planned for talking to officers

STAFFORDSHIRE'S new police and Crime Commissioner has unveiled plans to develop mobile phone applications allowing police to speak to the public via video calls.

Matthew Ellis wants to develop software for people to use on their phones so they can speak face-to-face with officers over video links.

It is one of the most futuristic plans put forward by the police chief, who says forces need to adapt to changing technology to engage with members of the public.

Mr Ellis, who was elected as police and crime commissioner in November, said he wanted to develop technology that got officers out on the beat. It comes on the back of plans to equip hundreds of officers with body cameras and mobile computers so they can file witness statements on the move rather than go back to police stations.

Palm

He wants the app to let people share information with police, reporting non-emergency matters face to face by video as well as responding to appeals, which would be delivered straight to the palm of people's hands. Meanwhile officers would be out on the beat instead of having to go back to police stations.

Mr Ellis plans to equip 316 front line officers with body cameras in a £204,000 project aimed at deterring attacks on them.

A further 80 have been on trial. Tablet computers, such as the iPad, would also be issued to officers for them to use wherever they are on the beat. "There's some amazing technology out there," Mr Ellis said. "I want Staffordshire to be the most technologically advanced force in the country."

He added: "The majority of people now have mobile phones."

"I want to develop customer friendly apps where people can speak to a person by video and see who it is they are talking to. The plans are in the early stages."

Mr Ellis said he also wanted to see people using public buildings such as post offices or parish council offices as places to meet with officers. His opposite number for the West Midlands Bob Jones has launched a review of where stations are to see whether they could be more accessible.

A think tank has recommended that police across the country save money and offer a better service by closing out-of-date police stations and opening more local police offices in shopping centres and other public locations.

In Staffordshire the number of officers fell from a peak in 2006 of 2,347 to 1,915 this year. However, the force is now recruiting again following changes brought in by Mr Ellis.

Countess gives Royal seal of approval to the Hoard

The county's principal archaeologist Stephen Dean tells the Countess of Wessex about his work with the Hoard

THE Staffordshire Hoard has been given the royal seal of approval by the Countess of Wessex.

Countess Sophie paid a visit to the county council's new headquarters and chatted to the council's principal archaeologist Stephen Dean as she took a tour of Staffordshire Place.

Mr Dean played a major role in the discovery and excavation of the Staffordshire Hoard – the biggest haul of Anglo Saxon gold ever found. Mr Dean chatted to the Countess about his work and showed her some historical artefacts.

County council leader Philip Atkins, who accompanied the Countess on her tour, said: "She was very much a people person and was a very lovely lady."

Secured

"She stopped to chat to workers and staff, and we gave her a lot of information about Staffordshire and our regeneration plans." It came days after newly-discovered items from the Staffordshire Hoard were secured for the Midlands – only a week after a fundraising campaign was launched.

The Court Jewellers Wartski, who made the Duchess of Cambridge's wedding ring, donated the full £57,395 to needed to secure the 81 further items of Anglo Saxon treasure.

They were discovered in November, three years after the initial discovery in a Hammerwich field.

James Baker & Sons Boot Manufacturers in Cleveland Road, Wolverhampton

The founder of the boot factory, James Baker, in 1850

Women at work producing boots and shoes at Baker's Boot factory during its heyday

Booted and suited trainers help to put the soul back into old factory

The former Baker's Boot factory in Wolverhampton

A DESCENDANT of a Wolverhampton boot and shoe-making dynasty has been reunited with pictures of his family after they were discovered during the renovation of a former factory.

John Baker, whose great-great grandfather James founded Baker's Boots in 1850, was the guest of honour at a launch event that has seen the former factory in All Saints, turned into an engineering training centre.

Mr Baker, aged 86, who lives near Claverley, was returning to the factory in Cleveland Road for the first time in more than 40 years.

The former shoe boss was there for the opening of Engineering Real Results (ERR), which trains and educates students in construction in the heart of the Grade II listed building.

The pictures of the Baker family are now being hung in the boardroom of the ERR centre and will eventually

by Adam Thompson include a portrait of John Baker. He said: "I haven't been to this factory for such a long time but there are features that are the same."

"The factory floor is a lot more open now but the sky lights and the brick and iron rafters haven't changed."

"It's good to see the factory being used for modern engineering purposes but at the same time not losing sight of its past."

History

"It lay derelict for some time, which was always sad, but I'm delighted to see it up and running like today. It's important its history isn't forgotten."

The ceremony was attended by Mayor of Wolverhampton Christine Mills who spoke of the history of the factory, which used to provide boots for soldiers during the Second World War.

ERR managing director Phil Prosser, of Oldbury, unearthed the pictures. "When I moved to the boot factory it was a shell and while sorting through its abandoned rooms, inside a dusty old cupboard I found a series of black and white framed Victorian photographs," he said.

"It turned out they used to hang in the boardroom, which I was in the process of renovating."

"I have a lot of good memories of the boot factory from my childhood because every year me and my family would go to Cleveland Road to buy my dad new work boots and pair of best shoes."

"I remember it with great fondness. "When I found the photographs I thought it was only right to restore them to their rightful place on the walls - then we realised there was one owner missing."

"Somebody mentioned John Baker was still living in the Midlands, so I began a search to find him and reunite him with his family."

"I'm glad it was successful."

Coaching for coaches at school football pitch

A 'COACHING the coaches' session has been set up at a Cannock school's football arena. The evening workshops are seen as a vital development for football in the area and are open to coaches or senior students who have an interest in passing on their skills to children.

The sessions at the £800,000 Liam Keeling Arena, at Cardinal Griffin RC High School, will be presented by staff coaches from the Football Association and England Handball. All proceeds will be donated to Meningitis UK.

The event on May 20 will run from 6.30-8pm and will include work for under-nines, under-10s, and under-16s, and on how handball can help football training. Entry is £2 for coaches or £1 for students. Call 07806 602606.

Power fundraisers

A BAND of fearless fun-runners summoned the superhero spirit of the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers to help them tackle the Lichfield 5k in aid of St Giles Walsall Hospice.

Phil Greatrex, 24, his partner Hannah Cross, 23, and their friends Dean Slater and Steven Higgs, both 24, gave their bid to complete the course around Beacon Park a boost by pulling on the legendary Spandex suits of the TV show characters.

The Cannock-based fundraisers found their fancy dress outfits helped inspire them to complete the fun run and to raise £275 for the hospice, which marks its second anniversary this month.

"We wanted to lift our performance levels to ensure we did our best for St Giles Walsall Hospice," said Phil, an engineer.

"The Mighty Morphin Power Rangers outfits were the perfect solution. They certainly helped us to attract sponsorship money."

"My nan was cared for by St Giles Hospice, so I know how important their work is and I'm delighted to have given my all for such a worthwhile charity."

Third man is jailed for rail cable theft

A THIRD member of an eastern European gang has been jailed after helping to steal almost £20,000 of cable from a main rail line through Staffordshire.

The three Romanians plundered the metal from the West Coast rail route in two raids on successive nights, disrupting services on the line.

Stafford Crown Court heard Network Rail logged a fault on the line at Creswell in Stafford on September 10 last year.

Track workers found 125 yards of power cable had been taken with its armour sheathing left strewn across the tracks. The following night another line fault registered at Wrinehall near Crewe, where it was discovered 135 yards of live signalling cable had been ripped up, stripped and stolen.

Around 1.45am the next day police stopped a van heading south on the M6 at Hilton, near Cannock, where driver Constantin Trahimov, Daniel Nicula and Teodor Racila, sitting in the back on a pile of coiled cable, were discovered. All three were arrested.

Gang

Racila, aged 24, of Soho Road, Birmingham was jailed for 27 months after admitting a charge of theft.

The two other members of the gang were jailed earlier this year. Trahimov, 21, for 27 months and Nicula, also 21, for 21 months.

MP's TV date hopes to attract younger voters

TORY MP Michael Fabricant has said he hopes his appearance on Have I Got News For You has helped him reach out to younger voters.

The Lichfield MP was a guest on the BBC One comedy quiz last night on Private Eye editor Ian Hislop's team.

He said: "I had a lot of fun. Whether the audience did or not I don't know. I had no idea how I came across because filming took place for two hours but it's only a half hour programme and a 45 minute repeat so a lot will have ended up on the cutting room floor."

"d: "My main reason for going on was to reach out to younger people in my constituency and across the UK."

Teeing off for tricks

David Edwards will perform trick shots in Cannock

ONE of the world's greatest 'trick shot' golfers will be showing off his skills at Cannock Park Golf Course this weekend. Internationally acclaimed David Edwards will be swinging by the Stafford Road course from noon to 2pm on Saturday as part of an open day for all the family.

Edwards is widely acknowledged as one of the world's best trick shooters and has performed at the Ryder Cup and Dubai World Championships.

Organised by golf course operators WLCT, it is part of a full day of activities aimed at turning more local people on to the sport. Sports development manager Paul Smith said: "We're really lucky to have someone of David's calibre coming along to this event."

Enjoyed

"The Golf family open day is about showing off the golf course and facilities and also illustrating that this is a great game that can be enjoyed by everyone."

Saturday's event runs from 10am to 4pm. There will be free use of golf clubs all day with the chance to play 15 holes for £5. Free coaching is available and club members and its PGA pro will offer advice and share their tips.

Fun activities will include crazy golf and some great free competitions, including a 'nearest to the pin' challenge.

MP is buoyed by railway meeting

TRAIN users got the chance to grill railway bosses over problems with the Chase Line at a face-to-face meeting.

Around 50 people attended the meeting at Cannock Community Fire Station to discuss services with transport minister Norman Baker MP and Patrick Verwer, managing director of London Midland.

There was a steady stream of passengers through the doors at Monday's drop-in meeting, which was organised by Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley.

Experience

The Conservative MP said: "It was fantastic to see so many residents and commuters come to Cannock Fire Station to tell London Midland bosses face to face their own experiences of problems on the line."

Mr Burley said he was pleased to see five London Midland bosses and a Network Rail representative attend the two-hour meeting at the Hednesford Road station, answering questions one-to-one.

"I know from speaking to those who attended that they found this far more useful than the faceless and drawn out complaints procedure."

New altar cloth unveiled

A NEW altar frontal has been dedicated at a Burntwood church. Rev Marg Mattocks conducted the service on Sunday, May 12, at Christ Church. The altar frontal was worked by members of the Embroidery for Burntwood Community Group. Designed by Barbara Marshall, it is the latest of their seven pieces of work produced during the last 11 years. Previous works are on show in venues around the town.

EATING OUT

Take it as red you'll be back for more

The Redmore Inn, Hayfield Hill, Cannock Wood
IT is not unusual these days, while looking for a place to eat, to turn to the internet for guidance.

A look at the Trip Advisor website sees favourable reviews of the Redmore Inn. And, after sampling the fare, I can only concur with their opinions.

'Lovely location, contemporary, but cosy interior', 'How a country pub should be' and 'a very pleasant evening in a warm and pleasant pub' are just some of the recommendations given by customers.

They're not wrong. New owners Steve Lee and Dan Child are coming up to two years at the helm and have really turned the place around. It is welcoming and friendly and has a more-than-pleasant family area.

Fresh

The Redmore has built up a reputation for fresh food ideas, using locally-sourced produce and is beginning to re-invent itself as a fine dining establishment. Sunday roasts are three-for-one, weekday lunch is served from noon to 3pm, while the pub has now launched its new menu.

It means diners can enjoy the delights of grilled asparagus with parma ham and Hollandaise sauce, crayfish tails with lemon and basil mayo, creamy garlic mushrooms on toasted blower or garlic king prawns.

These are just a selection of the starters on offer, and they whetted the appetite for the mains. My own choice came from the specials board, a pepper sirloin steak, served with blue cheese mash, done to perfection and with rich flavours.

My dining partners opted for seared tuna with an Asian noodle stir fry, battered haddock and chips with a minted pea puree and tartar sauce and a 10oz ribeye steak. Despite wanting to leave room for dessert, all were polished off with gusto. The puddings didn't disap-point either. Two of us chose the a generous helping of summer fruits and white chocolate cheesecake, the others opting for the tiramisu and strawberry and coconut parfait. Accompanied by a glass or two, and with modern music to add to the company we were in, the whole experience could not be faulted.

For the sweet-toothed, a regular pudding club is held and a Real Ale Festival is being staged in August.

NEWSYoungsters get skates on after £40,000 park refit

Youngsters celebrate the skatepark reopening with Councillor John Bernard, Norton Canes parish council chair man John Beddows and Councillor Ann Bernard, chairman of the projects committee that has led the project

A NORTON Canes skate park has been officially opened following a £40,000 revamp.

Worn out and unsafe equipment has been replaced at the 14-year-old facility in Brownhills Recreation Ground, on Brownhills Road.

Six new pieces of equipment have been installed to meet modern health and safety requirements and the area has been resurfaced.

Norton Canes parish clerk Linda

Florence said: "We are delighted that this project is now complete."

The refurbishment project was launched after a group of them requested it at a parish council meeting in 2010.

Requested

Since then, the parish council has worked with the youngsters to develop plans and raise funds. Cannock Chase District Council funded part of the project using section 106 monies, which developers are sometimes required to give in return for planning permission.

The Veolia Environmental Trust provided £30,000 thorough the Land-fill Communities Fund.

Executive director McNabb Laurie said: "Skate parks like this one provide young people of all ages with a place where they can meet up and have fun outdoors. I hope that the new equipment is enjoyed for many years to come."

NEWSCharity wins in football fundraiser

TWO Chasetown teams with a combined total of 4,000 games and more than 600 goals took to the field for a charity game.

The 24 players lined up for a fundraising game at the Scholars ground in aid of the Teenage Cancer Trust. Refereed by former Premier league official and Chasetown fan Alan Wiley, it featured players from the side that faced Oldham Athletic in the FA Cup in 2005 and those that met Cardiff City in the same competition three years later.

Among those lining up were Charlie Blakemore, the club's boss at the time, current manager Craig Harris, Kyle Perry and Chris Slater, who both moved on to Port Vale after the 2008 cup run, Danny Smith, who notched the winner in the famous win over Vale and former skipper Lee Parsons.

The club's all-time record scorer Tony Dixon played the full game at the age of 50. There was also time for a cameo appearance from Andy Cox, holder of Chasetown's all-time leading appearances with 535 and goalkeeper John Birt.

Scores

The game ended with a 3-2 Latics win but the scores that really mattered were an attendance of 613 people and a total of at least £3,500 raised for Teenage Cancer Trust.

A game between Shire Oak/Brownhills and West Brom All Stars preceded the Chasetown game. Money was also raised by tombolas, raffles, games, an inflatable and refreshments.

Among the raffle prizes were a doll's house, two tickets for Birmingham Speedway, the Sheffield FC original rules of football, two tickets for the Emirates Stadium and pub meals. raising as much cash as possible for the Teenage Cancer Trust has become the main goal of 18-year-old Stephen Sutton, of Burntwood. He has incurable cancer and has compiled a wish list of 46 things to do. He is also looking to raise £50,000 for the trust.

Chase visitors are urged to stay safe from crime

A SERIES of new signs have been installed on Cannock Chase to warn visitors to protect their valuables while out enjoying the area.

The signs have been installed around the Cannock Chase Visitor Centre at Marquis Drive in a joint project between the Police Mutual Assurance Society and the Cannock Chase Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB).

Stephen Mann is chief executive of Police Mutual who sponsored the design and production of 200 new A3 sized signs.

He said: "Police Mutual is delighted to have been able to support this project, which linked our objective of supporting the work of the police with that of improving the landscape of Cannock Chase, close to our HQ in Lichfield."

The signs, installed by volunteers working with Staffordshire County Council, have replaced older signs and provide useful information on how visitors can protect themselves from becoming victims of crime, including the new 101 police number to help with the report of non-emergency activity.

Support

Ruth Hytch, Cannock Chase AONB officer, said: "We want visitors to feel safe and secure when they use the car parks and, with the support of Police Mutual, the police and landowning partners, this project will help to achieve this objective, whilst improving the landscape of the AONB."

New academy gives young the chance to build future

THE LATA Construction Academy opens this month in Cannock and will be offering young people the opportunity to enter the construction sector.

The academy will be delivering the Maintenance Operations Apprenticeship Framework which will train young people in various trades to give them broad skills which will allow them to work with housing associations and local authorities to refurbish properties and prepare them to re-let.

LATA is looking for young people (initially 16 to 18 year olds) who have the desire to work in the construction sector.

The delivery will teach young people skills in carpentry, bricklaying, plastering, plumbing and tiling.

The training will commence in the LATA centre in Cannock for the initial stages of the course while the candidates develop their skills in the different trades.

Helped

When they have achieved the skills levels required they will then work as a team redeveloping empty properties and bringing them back up to standard ready to re-let.

Gary Hawkins, CEO of LATA, said "We have been extremely successful with our Logistics Academy which takes young people who generally are Not in Education Employment or Training (NEET) and gives them the skills to enter the logistics and retail sectors.

"We have helped to get over 500 young people into sustainable employment through this initiative and we are now looking at innovative ways that we can help young people to enter the construction sector.

"The training that we deliver covers both practical and theoretical skills so that the young people will develop the skills and confidence to be able to work on real properties that will ultimately be rented out."

The initial apprenticeship programme will give general skills and it is anticipated that some of the apprentices will go on to specialise in one of the trades that they have learned.

The ultimate goal of the construction academy is to encourage young people to want to work in the construction sector and will give them skills that will allow them to gain employment either with small builders or property maintenance companies right through to housing associations and local authorities.

It is expected that some of the young people will become self employed and may even start the building firms of the future.

If you are interested in an opportunity to enter the construction or logistics sectors, please contact Matthew Price at LATA on 01543 469424 or drop by the centre for a chat and further information.

Review to take place over use of car park

ROAD surfacing works are due to be carried out in Hednesford next week.

The work to repair the main roadway through Rugeley Road car park will begin on Sunday. It should be completed by Wednesday.

The area adjacent to Aldi store will be surfaced and temporary traffic signals in place to allow vehicles to leave via Cardigan Place.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the car park will be split into two's reducing its capacity but pedestrian movement will be maintained.

Meanwhile, use of the Rugeley Road car park is being reviewed. The Aldi store has taken over the bulk of spaces, to be used by its customers once it opens.

However Cannock Chase Council is reviewing the use of 40 spaces on the car park following complaints from some businesses that trade would be hit due to lack of parking.

Wrestling at church hall

WRESTLING fans can enjoy a live show in Hednesford tomorrow night (Friday).

SLAM Wrestling, will host a two hour event at Trinity Church Hall on Station Road from 7.30pm. It will feature Jonny Rose, Scotty Wildside and Layton Cole.

Tickets cost £5, available by calling 07788454915.

Mother's walk in memory of son raises more than £1,000

Don pyjamas for night at the museum

Abi Morris a customer services assistant at the Museum of Cannock Chase in Hednesford getting ready for Teddy Time, bedtime stories in the toy gallery

A VISITOR attraction is gearing up to host Night at the Museum-style events tomorrow night (Friday).

Young families are being invited to an evening of bedtime story-telling at the Museum of Cannock Chase, in Valley Road, Hednesford.

Teddy Time on May 17 offers children a story session in the toys gallery led by a museum educator.

Cookies

Youngsters should come along dressed in their pyjamas and should bring along their favourite toy and an adult.

The evening is aimed at the under sevens, but older children are welcome with a younger sibling or friend.

Milk and cookies will be served.

Three sessions will be taking place at the museum, running from 5pm to 5.30pm, 5.45pm to 6.15pm and 6.30pm to 7pm. Entry costs £1.50 per child and booking is advisable.

Following on from Teddy Time, the centre is also hosting nature event Hills Alive, an Evening Ramble on the same night from 5pm.

A BEREAVED mother from Hednesford whose son died unexpectedly has raised more than £1,000 for charity.

Beth Amison, aged 21, of Lomax Road, joined 20 people to walk one mile in aid of The Lullaby Trust, a charity which helps support families trying to cope with the death of a young child.

Mrs Amison's son Maison died in March aged seven months and now she wants to raise awareness of dangers in the home and raise awareness of the trust.

She said: "Maison was the perfect baby always happy and smiling. He would eat anything and everyone loved him."

Accidents

"One day he pulled himself up and got hold of a nappy sack and put it in his mouth. "He had never done anything like this before so I want to make other parents aware of little things that can cause accidents at home."

"If I can stop one family from feeling the way my husband and I do then my work will be done."

The trust's annual Mile in Memory event invites people from across the country to walk a mile in memory of a loved one.

Mrs Amison walked with friends and relatives from her home to Hednesford Park and released balloons in Maison's memory. She added: "Everyone wrote a message to Maison which was tied on a balloon and released. It was tipping down with rain but everyone was still in good spirits."

"I only aimed to raise £100 but have raised more than £700 online and am still waiting for sponsorship money which will total over £1,000."

"In August I am hoping to hold another event to commemorate Maison's birthday. I am currently in the process of planning this."

Fun day in park with music, arts and crafts

FAMILIES are invited to Hednesford Park next week for a day of arts, crafts and live music.

A fun day will be held on May 25 from 11am, Keen footballers can train with Hednesford Town FC and take part in a Street Stadia event run by the fire service.

Friends of Hednesford Park chairman Lynn Evans, said: "It is going to be a really good day."

"There will be a disco in the park and anyone who would like to try their hand at greenwood crafts will be able to do so."

"There will also be face painting and a range of games for everyone to enjoy so I hope a lot of people will join in the fun."

Entry to the park is free. Football coaching costs £12.50 per child per day or £40 for the week. For more information visit www.friendsofhednesfordpark.btck.co.uk

Beautician toasts 30 years in business

THE owner and founder of Cannock's first dedicated beauty salon is celebrating her 30th year in business.

Poppy's Beauty Salon in Bideford Way is owned and managed by Lesley Morris and is the longest running beauty salon in the town.

Cannock-born Lesley had emigrated to Australia for a while but decided on her return to start the business. She said: "When I first opened there wasn't a proper beauty salon like it in Cannock and people's attitudes were very different. Things have changed so much since the early days and I would like to think we have helped a lot of local ladies."

She moved to her current site after 13 years at a shop in Bridgtown. Mrs Morris, of Shoal Hill, now has help behind the scenes from her son Jordan.

The 52-year-old said: "There have been some difficult times and I have already survived three recessions, but we wouldn't be where we are today without our customers."

She also praised her parents for their ongoing support.

Threats made by jobless

AN unemployed man threatened staff at Cannock Job-Centre and grabbed one worker by the throat after they refused to give him benefits, a court heard.

Paul Dent from Bridgtown shouted: "I might get a bit rowdy if my money is not sorted out today" in front of staff and customers at the centre in Beecroft Road.

Dent claimed he acted in that way on April 26 because his benefit payments had been stopped.

Cannock Magistrates Court was told he had now been banned from the centre. Mr Dave Bell, prosecuting, said: "The incident took place at the job centre in Beecroft Road. The gentleman was there to sort his money out."

Banging

"He appeared to be a bit agitated. He started banging on the glass screens in front of customers. He took someone by the throat. There was a clash of heads as well."

Dent, of Watling Street, admitted using threatening and abusive behaviour with intent to cause fear of violence. He was given a 12-month conditional discharge, ordered to pay £85 costs and a £15 victim surcharge.

Mr Steve Rudge, defending, said: "He has had problems with his benefits. He has had to go six weeks without any money."

Mr Rudge said the job centre had been informed by someone that Dent, aged 33, had landed a job in London and after that his benefits stopped.

He continued: "He had no money. He lives alone, pays rent, gas and electricity bills. He became annoyed and angry. There was no damage caused and no weapon brandished."

Advice by police on avoiding car crime

POLICE are out in Cannock this week to advise people how not to become burglary and car crime victims.

Operation Impact will see police take to the streets to urge people to protect their homes. They will also warn people not to leave items on show in the cars and to secure anti-theft devices and alarms.

Commander of Cannock Chase Ch Insp Carl Ratcliffe said: "Unfortunately opportunist thieves will look to target cars parked on the street or outside people's homes with items on display. We would urge drivers to keep their vehicles and property safe and secure at all times.

"Don't give them any opportunities to steal from your vehicle. And, always keep vehicle keys away from doors and windows when at home."

Traffic chaos as driver spills milk load on road

The scene on the traffic island next to the M6 Toll junction T8 after a lorry overturned carrying a load of milk cartons

DRIVERS were caught up in hours of traffic chaos after an overturned lorry shed its load of milk near Cannock, sparking a clean up operation.

The articulated lorry toppled over at around 7.30am on Sunday as it negotiated a roundabout on the A460 beside the M6 Toll Junction T8 at Wedges Mills.

Motorists faced delays as police cordoned off the road. The driver, from West Yorkshire, was unhurt. As traffic began to build up during the morning, officers closed off the half-mile stretch between Junction 11 of the M6 and the scene of the accident for around three hours to allow the lorry to be recovered.

Tweeted

Police said it took around six hours to put the vehicle back on its wheels and clean up the carriageway.

Motorists heading for Cannock from the M6 were diverted along Lodge Lane to Bridgtown. Those stuck in queues tweeted warnings. Cannock Cricket Club player Jack Twigger advised those travelling to the Church Lane ground to get off the motorway at Junction 12 and approach from the A5.

The lorry, owned by Liverpool-based Bibby's Distribution, was supplying milk cartons bound for Tesco stores.

Cannock Police duty control room manager Mick Broome said: "The lorry ended up on its side with the cartons of milk deposited on the road. It was necessary to close the road as far as the M6.

"Although it's a very short stretch, it was still inconvenient for road users and took the best part of six hours to get the lorry upright and clear up the milk."

Intimate club date for glam rock star

AS THE godfather of glam rock, Alvin Stardust has performed in front of thousands – not to mention to packed-out theatres in the West End.

But now he's heading to a more intimate venue. The 70-year-old is getting ready to rock Lucy's Bar in Hednesford, which holds 400 at a squeeze.

Stardust will be at the Hednesford pub, formerly The Birds, in Bradbury Lane, as part of a new tour raising funds for the National Autistic Society. He and his band, which includes Cannock-based guitarist Glyn Davies, will be at the venue on Saturday (May 18).

"The bar had already been identified as somewhere we could play – our guitarist only lives about a mile from there," says the singer.

Agents

"They approached us, and once we checked with the charity, we secured the gig. It's a great club to be playing. We like playing small rock bars and clubs."

Stardust says the only life he ever wanted was being in a band. He has even ditched the agents and is now focusing on 'getting back to his roots'.

"I was doing theatre for a number of years, some of which was in the West End," said the father-of-five who lives in Guildford.

"I played the Child Catcher in Chitty and did the first two series of Hollocks. With shows like Chitty we'd perform eight or nine shows a night. But I missed my music too much, so I got rid of the agents and management. I thought, 'I don't really need that any more'."

The 1970s star has also just returned from recording a new album in Germany with a rockabilly band and guitarist Glyn, who has played alongside Alvin for the past 30 years.

"Now I feel like I'm getting back to my roots," said Stardust, who was once married to actress Liza Goddard.

"We've recently done gigs across Europe; we've played Guilfest, Americana, the East Midlands Showground. I enjoyed theatre, but all I've ever wanted all my life is to be in a band. Even when I was at number one, my mum would say to me, 'When are you going to get a proper job?'"

As a young boy, Stardust – then known by his birth name Bernard Jewry – first wanted to be a professional rugby player. But a rheumatoid illness at the age of 14 caused the youngster to lose his strength.

Nowadays, he and his band play mostly in Europe. He will be supported at Lucy's Bar by Slade tribute Slade on a 'Rewind To The 70s' charity bill. Call 01543 321318 or 07902 808599.

A full house and fancy footwork

Stars of Strictly: Pasha & Katya, The Prince of Wales Centre, Cannock.

THERE was a full house for the return of Strictly Come Dancing professionals Pasha Kovalev and Katya Virshilas when they thrilled a Cannock audience with their fabulous footwork.

They were joined by Ryan Hammond and Lindsey Muckle from the South African version of Strictly.

The entertaining two-hour show had a modern Hollywood theme. Ryan and Lindsay thrilled with Footloose but Pasha and Katya got an appreciative gasp for the famous Dirty Dancing lift.

The audience saw a clip of Katya dancing the tango with Antonio Banderas in Take The Lead before a bare-chested Pasha wielded a cape for what shall be known as the 'pasho dable'.

Three couples picked from the audience were schooled to step out in passionate Latin style and aptly it was won by a couple planning to marry. There were also two performances by Class One Dance Academy in Cannock.

Both pairs of pros came together for crisply choreographed routines based on The Cell Block Tango from Chicago and a jiving Grease megamix. But the highlight was the elegant Viennese waltz to Twilight hit A Thousand Years. The two stars also did a question and answer session and stayed behind to sign autographs and pose for photographs with fans. Leon Burakowski

Self-taught musician with incredible range

Valerie June, Glee Club, Birmingham

VALERIE June from Tennessee professes to an eclectic mix of influences from Billie Holiday to Van Morrison and from Dolly Parton to The Beatles and this comes out in her music, so much so it's often difficult to know what to make of her as a performer.

You have to give her admiration for the fact she is a self-taught musician, undoubtedly naturally talented and her voice does have an incredible range with which she hit the sold out audience at the Glee right from her first blues number, Trouble.

Emotive

When she sings at the bottom end of her range her voice, is deep, soulful, velvety and emotive. However, when she hits the top end the power overtakes the quality and the screechy high frequency becomes almost white noise which no doubt has the ability to bring down aeroplanes.

She slowed down to the ballad Twined and Twisted but again at the high end filled the room with ease but it was most of the time unintelligible.

Love Told a Lie, was the best song which really gave a better indication of how good her voice can be. She filled the torch song with emotion and her clear tones carried over the audience in waves. For Shotgun, June pulled out the slide guitar and with the unusual addition of a female drummer went into a frenzy of crazy blues which sounded more like the grizzled Seasick Steve than the demure songstress on the stage.

Valerie June - eclectic mix

Throughout the set she incorporated good 'ol country, heavy blues and funk and even a smattering of gospel. When she brought her voice down to the level of human hearing she was awesome but when she took it up into the rafters it was time to make sure you weren't near anything which frightened easily.

Award-winning trio get going from the onset

Lau, Glee Club, Birmingham

THERE may only be three members to the award-winning Lau but you certainly get a full sound from the trio once they get going - and they did right from the first number.

They opened with The Burrian, from the album Race the Loser, which had all the hallmarks of a traditional instrumental with East Anglian Martin Green on piano accordion, and Scots Chris Drever on guitars and Aidan O'Rourke on fiddle.

Another album track Saint Monday followed and was a much softer piece where Drever introduced his distinctively mellow, slightly melancholic voice into the proceedings.

Drever's composition Horizontigo had a mellow acoustic opening with a slow, sombre sound balanced perfectly between the accordion and fiddle and there was almost a spaghetti western/Spanish-style undertone about it.

Throwing Pennies brought Drever back into the proceedings again, while O'Rourke brought the soft fiddle sound in for Torsia.

The audience was also treated to Far From Portland, The Bird that Winds the Spring and Save the Bees heading towards the Midnight Feast ending.

Catch tomorrow's rock stars as new generation rolls in

Back to the 60s musical

THE BIGGEST and brash-est feel-good musical of recent years, Hairspray, is back on the road and comes to Birmingham Hippodrome from Tuesday.

Freya Sutton steps into the spotlight as the unstoppable Tracy Turnblad, promoting dancing, hair products and improved inter-racial relationships in 1960s Baltimore.

Finalist

Waterloo Road actor Mark Benton steps into Michael Ball, John Travolta and Brian Conley's dancing shoes as her mom Edna.

Former EastEnders Lucy Benjamin is vicious Velma Von Tussle and X Factor finalist Marcus Collins plays Seaweed Stubbins. You Can't Stop The Beat until June 1.

Big girl you're beautiful – Freya Sutton as the irrepressible Tracy Turnblad in the new touring version of hit 1960s Baltimore musical Hairspray, coming to the Hippodrome

A RISING new generation of rock acts are coming to the West Midlands.

Bastille, the musical vehicle for the talents of Dan Smith, has sold out an eagerly-awaited gig at the Birmingham O2 Academy on November 3 – not bad for an outfit that only released debut album Bad Blood in March.

The new single will be Laura Palmer, inspired by the murdered girl in 1990 cult TV show Twin Peaks.

Bastille fans who are also going to see Muse at Coventry's Ricoh Arena on Wednesday, can catch them as the support act.

The O2 Academy is also the venue for young Nottingham singer-songwriter Jake Bugg, who has a stint of three gigs at the Bristol Street venue, on October 28, 29 and November 10.

Temples

Raw Liverpoolian rockers The Dirty Rivers play at the Hare and Hounds in Kings Heath on May 25, the same venue as psychedelic hipsters Temples on June 19.

There is a chance to catch rising stars Young Kato when the Cheltenham six-piece, featured on TV reality show Made In Chelsea, play the O2 Academy 3 on May 27.

On Tuesday, May 28 the next big thing from Manchester, 1975, play the HMV Institute Library in Digbeth.

Bar stages tribute act to Led Zep

A LED Zeppelin tribute act will be performing in Hednesford next month.

Fred Zeppelin's gig at Lucy's Bar, Bradbury Lane, will feature a range of Led Zeppelin classics as part of the band's 20th anniversary tour.

Drummer Steve Black said: "Hednesford is a great place to play and Lucy's Bar is the ideal location so we are all looking forward to performing. It looks set to be a great night."

"We are playing lots of gigs over the next few months so would encourage lots of people to come and support us."

The event starts at 9pm on Friday, June 7. Tickets cost £6 in advance and £8 on the door.

For more information call 01543 321318.

Lights go up on Pink Floyd show

MAY goes out in spectacular style at the Prince of Wales Centre with a tribute to Pink Floyd.

Darkest have built up a strong following and perform the band's greatest hits. But the highlight will be a spectacular light show and trademark projection screen.

The concert is at 8pm on Saturday, May 25, with tickets priced at £14.50.

They are available from the box office in Church Street, or on 01543 578762.

Bastille's Dan Smith

Laughs upon Avon

MORE than 35 acts feature at the Comedy Hullabaloo festival over the May 23-26 bank holiday weekend in Stratford-upon-Avon. Several venues in the town will be used and tickets start from £9. The acts include Al Murray, Sandi Toksvig, Milton Jones and Ed Byrne. See comedyhullabaloo.com

Bonnie Tyler

Eurovision Song Contest 2013

BBC1, 8pm
Graham Norton returns to the commentator's booth for the 58th Eurovision, which this year takes place in Sweden. Favourite to win is Denmark's Emmelie de Forest. Norway's I Feed You My Love has been described as a cross between Daft Punk and Metallica, while Marco Mengoni is the Italian X Factor champion. The UK is represented by Bonnie Tyler and Believe in Me; although we don't expect her to get nul points, we don't believe she'll turn out to be the winner either – but we'll be thrilled to bits if we're proved wrong.

Pick of the Week

Bonnie aims for a Total Eclipse of the charts

Happy 58th birthday, Eurovision. Or should we say, Pump-Pump, Bern-Born, Tom Tom Tom. Boom Boom, Sing Sang Song.

They might not mean much to you, but to Eurovision fans, such nonsense lyrics bring back memorable nights of bizarre costumes, weird performances and eccentric singers.

The world's number-one cheesy music-fest is knocking on a bit, and is only a few short years away from claiming its bus pass – some might even suggest it's past its sell-by date, or that it's now so far removed from the times that it's taken a 'pipe-and-slippers' approach to music.

But if this year's entrants are anything to go by, the competition seems to have had an injection of youth serum.

Denmark's Emmelie de Forest is expected to do well. The 20-year-old appears to be channelling our own Sandie Shaw (who was the UK's first winner back in 1967 with Puppet on a String) on stage – well, she performs without shoes anyway.

Her track, Only Teardrops, is so catchy, she's the runaway favourite, and votes from her nation's close neighbours are expected to push her to victory.

Norway's I Feed You My Love has been described as a cross between Dalt Punk and Metallica, so we can hardly wait to hear that.

Marco Mengoni is Italy's X Factor champion, and his piano ballad could surprise a few on the night.

Russia will be attempting to go one better than they did last year when they were runners-up. Frankly, their rather bland song could put some voters off, so they're pinning their hopes on the appeal of singer Dina Garipova – it's a long shot, but it might just work...

And then, of course, there's the UK's Bonnie Tyler. We've been holding out for a Eurovision hero (see what we did there?) since Katrina and Waves were our last winners back in 1997.

There was a time when the British public voted for a representative in the Song for Europe competition, but after a woeful few years, folk at the BBC felt they knew best and began choosing themselves.

The idea didn't work too badly with Blue, who finished 11th, but seasoned crooner Engelbert Humperdinck came a disappointing 25th in 2012.

Bonnie is also a veteran performer, and the nation will be behind her when she bashes out Believe In Me in Malmö. Hopefully, it won't be nui point for the pocket Welsh wonder, but we're not expecting great things either – so we'll be thrilled to bits if we're wrong.

Lewis Carnie, BBC Head of Special Projects, says: "Bonnie is an artist with an international reputation and I am delighted that she has chosen to represent the UK in this year's contest. It is a great song and a truly wonderful performance that I am sure will do the nation proud."

As for Bonnie herself, she can't wait for the night to start: "I am truly honoured and delighted to be able to represent the United Kingdom at Eurovision, and especially with such a fabulous song. I promise to give this everything that I've got for the UK!" Ding-Dinger-Dong to that!

Bonnie Tyler, Eurovision Song Contest 2013, Saturday, BBC1, 8pm

Best of the Rest

Hillsborough: How They Buried the Truth BBC1, 9pm

On April 15, 1989, Britain's worst football disaster took place at Sheffield Wednesday's Hillsborough Stadium. Ninety-six Liverpool fans were killed as a result of a crush, with 766 more sustaining injuries. In December last year, following an inquiry by the Hillsborough Independent Panel, the original verdict of accidental death for the 96 who perished was overturned: a new inquest will take place next year. This documentary, presented by reporter Peter Marshall, tries to unearth why various investigations into what happened on that tragic day in 1989 failed to reveal the truth. There's also a chance to see previously unseen footage of events.

The Job Lot ITV, 9.30pm

Sadly scheduled after Vicious, the brilliantly bitchy Ian McKellen, Derek Jacobi sitcom, this can look like a bit of an anti-climax to ITV's Monday night comedy double bill, but the latest offering of Midlands-based mirth may tickle your fancy. With Brownall job centre due for an anonymous inspection, Trish (Sarah Hadland) is looking out for the person who's going to file a report. Meanwhile, security guard Janette (Angela Curran) is determined to beat the Great Barr branch in the league table, and Karl (Russell Tovey) and George (Adeel Akhtar) join forces to interrogate a pair of big-time benefit cheats.

TUESDAY

Caroline Quentin's National Parks ITV, 8pm

The final programme in the series sees Caroline explore the New Forest, which nestles in the counties of Hampshire and Wiltshire. Caroline's first taste of life there sees her dangling above it – in the basket of a hot air balloon. Then she meets some of its most famous residents, the ponies born in the park that are often completely untamed, despite having owners, and helps catch a foal that will be sold and trained to be ridden. But it's the trees that make the area so special, and Caroline climbs one of them with help from tree surgeon Jo Hedger (an apt name if ever there was one) before relating why her experiences have convinced her that National Parks should be an important part of everyone's lives.

Town with Nicholas Crane BBC2, 9pm

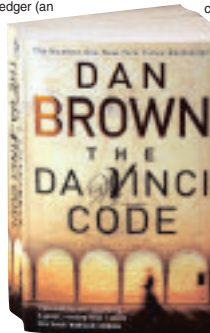

If he was an actor, you'd be calling Nicholas Crane typecast by now. He's probably most famous for his work on Coast, the BBC's series in which he travels the length and breadth of the UK's shoreline in an effort to bring us fascinating footage from the towns and settlements along the way. In this new BBC series, however, he's visiting towns around the UK, beginning with Oban – which is situated on Scotland's west coast. Don't despair, though, because no matter how familiar the concept might be, this is still a fascinating documentary. Here, the geographer and adventurer explains the surprising role Oban played in the Cold War, visits one of Scotland's oldest distilleries and meets artist John Lowrie Morrison at his studio.

WEDNESDAY

Bankers BBC2, 9pm

When you think of a banker, the image that comes to mind might well be that of a greasy-haired man in a pin-striped suit, greedily counting coins stacked up in piles around him. This might be picture more commonly found in a cartoon strip, but in the wake of the payment protection insurance scandal (PPI), the last in this three-part series examines whether there is any truth in this stereotype, and what possibly caused a rip-off on such a monumental scale. Whatever the cause, the result of the policy is a compensation bill currently estimated at a staggering £25 billion, and Sir Philip Hampton, RBS Chairman, Antonio Horta Osorio, Lloyds Group CEO, and the Archbishop of Canterbury consider how such a damaged system can ever be re-built.

The Da Vinci Code: The True Story, Thursday, Channel 5, 8pm

THURSDAY

The Da Vinci Code: The True Story Channel 5, 8pm

When Dan Brown penned The Da Vinci Code, it proved you don't need to be the best writer in the world to shift books by the truck load. You just need a controversial idea, and enough pace to keep readers turning pages. For newcomers, the story centres on Professor Robert Langdon, who's desperately trying to discover a mystery involving a speculative relationship between Jesus and Mary Magdalene. This documentary examines the possibility of Rosslyn Chapel in Midlothian being the final resting place of the Holy Grail, and attempts to find out the secrets behind Leonardo da Vinci's mirror writing. Among the contributors are historian Mario Taddel, art restorer Cecilia Frosinini and graphic designer John Langdon, who inspired the heroic Professor Langdon.

FRIDAY Life of Crime ITV, 9pm

The last of the current series take place in the present day, and Denise Woods (Hayley Atwell) is interviewed for the position of superintendent. However, her home life is a mess. Ex-husband Ray (Richard Coyle) reveals that her 19-year-old estranged daughter Charlotte (Ruby Thomas) is pregnant. Meanwhile, the case of a recent murder victim flags up the same 'unknown' DNA from 1997 and 1985, so the police officer hopes she can put her demons to rest by finding Amy Reid's killer. Through profiling, Denise builds a picture of two men, one dependent on the other, raping and killing together at music events.

Homes for sale and to let in Cannock, Penkridge, Rugeley, Heath Hayes, Hednesford, Great Wyrley and Burntwood

Garden size is a buyer's number one compromise

A SURVEY from Move with Us, the residential property experts, has revealed that potential homebuyers are most willing to compromise on the size of their garden when looking for a new home. This was closely followed by a downstairs cloakroom.

The survey was conducted among independent estate agents from the Move with Us Partner Network and found that nearly 40 per cent of estate agents noted that the size of a property's garden was the first thing to be forfeited when buyers were purchasing a new home.

A downstairs toilet was next on the list with 33.5 per cent of agents highlighting that potential homeowners are willing to sacrifice this in order to secure the right property. Location came in third at 15.4 per cent, followed by the availability of parking at 9.3 per cent and the number of bedrooms at 2.7 per cent.

Viewings

The survey also found that the number of property viewings that homebuyers completed before buying their new home has also increased.

The average number of properties a buyer has typically viewed before buying in the last six months is between 11 and 15.

Robin King, Director at Move with Us, says: "It is likely that the rise in the number of viewings that people are undertaking has grown as a result of the average move cycle increasing to every 20 years or so.

"People are moving less often now so they aren't as willing to compromise and are taking more time to find the right property.

"We may see this change in 2013 if more buyers return to the market and lending criteria becomes more relaxed.

"In the meantime estate agents should help manage the expectations of their customers so they understand what they can afford in their chosen area.

"The perfect home rarely exists so it is important to help them to prioritise their 'must haves' and their 'maybes'.

"Ultimately, having a set plan and clear criteria can save both the estate agent and the customer time and money in the long run."

Developer to join forces with RSPB

TAYLOR Wimpey is teaming up with the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds (RSPB) to provide a welcoming habitat for birds and butterflies at its new homes developments across the Midlands.

The partnership will see the leading homebuilder take steps to create the ideal conditions birds and butterflies need to flourish in the gardens of all its new properties.

All new homes built by Taylor Wimpey Midlands now come with a free filled bird feeder to give residents the opportunity to attract local species to their gardens.

Native

In addition, future landscaping schemes at Taylor Wimpey Midlands developments will be designed to feature wildlife-friendly native plants and flowers, as the developer works with the RSPB to promote population growth for birds and butterflies in urban areas.

Anne Wallace, regional sales and marketing director for Taylor Wimpey, says: "The prolonged cold weather experienced through the last few winters has been particularly harsh for small birds, with the extreme conditions decimating their food supplies and leaving many of them at risk of starvation."

"Back gardens are often the best place for birds to spend winter because they can provide both shelter and a decent supply of food. To help birds out through the long cold spells, we will install bird feeders in the gardens of all our new homes."

"Similarly, there has been a decline in numbers of many native butterflies, leaving several species on the brink. Our partnership with the RSPB will see us work to create green spaces filled with nectar-rich plants at our developments to encourage butterflies to visit and breed."

Small garden birds have endured a turbulent few years in Britain. Following the coldest winter for three decades in 2009-10, sightings of the goldcrest, coal tit and long-tailed tit were dramatically down. But favourable breeding conditions in the following two springs saw many bird types bounce back. However, several breeds are subject to a long-term downward slide in urban populations, including the once-prevalent starling, house sparrow and song thrush.

Meanwhile, the Big Butterfly Count 2012 discovered that last summer's wet weather had a devastating effect on both common and rare species across the country. A total of 15 out of 21 butterflies and day-flying moth varieties suffered year-on-year population declines.

In one of the worst ever recorded years, the study found that even the normally abundant red admiral experienced a 72 per cent drop in numbers.

These latest findings come on the back of a 2011 survey by the Butterfly Conservation and Centre for Ecology and Hydrology, which published data showing that 72 per cent of all butterfly species have declined in numbers over the last decade.

Taylor Wimpey currently has a superb selection of apartments and houses for sale at developments across the region. To find out more, telephone 01926 516900 or visit the website at taylorwimpey.co.uk/midlands

It's 'sofa so good' for more than 300 first time buyers

Celebration time - Stephanie Parker, Tracey Portington and Julia Portington, all from Miller Homes

Miller Homes West Midlands is celebrating after helping more than 300 first time buyers onto the property ladder in the last five years, freeing up space in parent's homes across the region.

Since 2008, the award-winning housebuilder has opened the door to 302 first homes at developments in Staffordshire, Gloucestershire, Birmingham, Coventry and Shropshire.

As Pat Kimber, sales manager at Miller Homes West Midlands, comments, many of those individuals were living with their parents to save money:

"In effect, we've helped over 300 parents reclaim their sofas, giving them back the luxury of space!"

"But on a more serious note, this figure highlights the fact that getting onto that all important first rung of the property ladder is not unachievable."

"Yes, it involves a degree of saving, but there are different purchase options available to help overcome the deposit gap and offer a flexible way of buying a quality new home." One such incentive is the newly launched

Help to Buy scheme, unveiled in this year's budget. As part of the initiative, buyers who only have a small deposit of five per cent are offered assistance. A 20 per cent equity loan is provided from the Government for those who meet the qualifying criteria, meaning buyers only need to secure up to a 75 per cent mortgage from a bank or building society.

One option available to first time buyers is the two-bedroom Medway style property at the Miller Point development in Coventry. Priced from £133,950, this contemporary house is the perfect place to set up home.

"With schemes such as Help to Buy, we expect the number of first time buyers we're able to help to increase over the coming months and years," added Pat.

"Any parents needing extra space on their sofas need to highlight just how easy it can be for their offspring to take their first steps into the property market."

BMW sports with four-wheel drive

By Matt Joy

BMW's 3 Series has always been a car for all circumstances – fun to drive but practical and comfortable too.

Over the years, the range has expanded to widen the net still further. The estate Touring, the M3 and the ever-increasing range of diesel offerings meant there has always been a version to suit.

Now there's another side to the 3 Series story with the introduction of the xDrive model.

Four-wheel drive versions outside of the SUV models have been available in Europe since the 1980s, but due to the complexities of right-hand drive conversions it has never made it across to the UK.

That's all changed with the 320i xDrive now on sale. You won't spot any external differences bar the additional badging. The 3 Series is as handsome and clean-cut as ever, with the slimmer nose giving it a more purposeful look.

But this is no pseudo-SUV, it is designed to be just as the regular saloon with enhanced traction.

Currently available only with the 2.0-litre turbocharged petrol version, the 320i xDrive is not short of power. The four-cylinder unit offers up a handy 184bhp and 199lb/ft of

A new addition to the BMW 3 Series range is the 320i xDrive with four-wheel drive

Inside the BMW 320i, which offers a choice of manual or automatic gearbox torque, fed to all four wheels through a choice of the six-speed manual or eight-speed automatic gearbox.

But from behind the wheel, initially at least, you'll be hard pressed to notice anything different – which of course is the whole point.

The manual gearbox operates just as slickly as before, the clutch is smooth and has no extra weight, although it is above average in that respect, so from the driver's perspective, there's nothing extra to worry about.

This is four-wheel drive as an enhancement to performance and safety, not in order to climb mountains, so there are no differential locks or unusual buttons that require your attention.

The 2.0-litre turbo engine almost doesn't feel like one at first either; it is torquey but not at diesel-levels, so it pulls cleanly and smoothly right around the rev range with a muted engine note.

It also bears very close comparison with the standard two-wheel drive car, feeling very brisk rather than hugely rapid. But that's on a bone-dry road. In less than favourable conditions, the extra traction of the 320i xDrive comes into its own. You can deploy all the available power pretty much at will and the drive will be distributed amongst the wheels with the most grip. In normal driving, 60 per cent of the power goes to the rear wheels, but this can switch to 100 per cent towards the front or rear if conditions demand it.

Purists may be concerned that this goes against the BMW philosophy as all its cars have rear-wheel drive and have done so since the start, but this is no less a sports saloon than any other 3 Series. It steers as sweetly as the standard car despite the slight increase in weight at the front with the additional hardware. And in many respects, it allows you to enjoy all the 3

Series characteristics more of the time. Pressing on out of a greasy bend would have the traction control light flickering away, where in the 320i xDrive it simply grips hard and accelerates.

Such surety is enormously reassuring, so much so that it's easy to forget about it and simply get on with enjoying the drive.

The price premium is a modest £1,500 or so, which stands comparison with other items on the options list such as a top-grade satnav or audio system.

Best Estate Car award for Kia cee'd Sportswagon

DIESEL Car magazine has named the Kia cee'd Sportswagon Best Estate Car in its annual Car of the Year issue – the first award won by Kia's C-segment car.

Beating off strong opposition from the Mazda 6 Tourer and Jaguar XF Sportbrake to win the overall title, Diesel Car magazine's editor, Ian Robertson said: "The cee'd Sportswagon combines well-designed practicality and excellent driving calibre in an attractive package."

Kia had a strong showing in the Diesel Car magazine awards, with the Sorento highly commended in the mainstream 4x4 class, whilst the Rio was also commended in the mainstream small car class. Celebrating their 25th anniversary in the business this year, Diesel Car is the UK's top selling diesel, alternative fuel and eco-friendly car specialist monthly magazine.

Paul Philpott, president and CEO, Kia Motors UK Limited said: "We are delighted that Diesel Car has awarded the cee'd Sportswagon best estate car for 2013. It's unrivalled combination of space, functionality and engine performance, wrapped up in a premium design and backed up with our seven-year warranty, gave us great confidence that we had a best-in-class product. Thankfully Diesel Car agree!"

Built and launched in Slovakia in September 2012, the second generation cee'd Sportswagon is available with two engine options – 1.4-litre 89bhp and 1.6-litre CRDi 126bhp, with prices starting from £16,895 on the road. Kia's fixed-price and inflation proof "Care-3" and "Care-3 plus" servicing packages, which covers the first three or first five services for retail customers, are available for £329, or £609 accordingly. For more information on cee'd Sportswagon, please visit www.kia.co.uk

Since registrations of the new generation cee'd family began in May 2012, the cee'd Sportswagon currently makes up 16 per cent of the total cee'd family sales, this being split between 75 per cent fleet, and 25 per cent retail sales in the UK.

New Suzuki Burgman is luxury maxi-scooter

The 2013 Burgman is ideal for the touring rider

SUZUKI GB has announced pricing and availability of the 2013 Burgman 650 ABS Executive.

The new Burgman 650 is competitively priced at £8,799, and boasts heated rider and pillion seat, heated grips, electronically adjustable screen and fold in mirrors, over 50 litres of storage and three drive modes as standard.

Praised by many as the original luxury maxi-scooter for its smooth engine and rider comfort, the 2013 Burgman 650 also benefits from a host of technical changes to improve fuel efficiency and reduce clutch drag, as well as updated styling. The new Burgman is arriving in dealers now.

Suzuki's general manager Paul de Lusignan commented: "We're beginning to see an emerging trend in the big capacity scooter market, and find a lot of owners are now not just using them for commuting or nipping around, but are actually using them to cover long distances and see them as very capable tourers."

"We decided to launch the new model in the Highlands as the location not only provided some stunning scenery, but also highlighted the elevated rider comfort and practicality of the new Burgman, too."

"Not only is the price very competitive, but the standard equipment levels are the highest on the market."

Juke's new crossover N-Tec model full of hi-tech goodies

NISSAN'S popular Juke crossover has been given extra appeal with the introduction of the N-Tec model.

Based on the existing Acenta Premium model, the Juke N-Tec adds 18in black and silver alloy wheels, as well as gloss black B-pillars and door mirrors. On the inside, a gloss black centre console and gloss black door trim finishers complete the visual changes. The equipment highlight on the inside is the latest generation Nissan Connect system, controlled via a large 5.8in colour touchscreen.

Integrating satellite navigation system with Bluetooth connectivity for mobile phones and MP3 players, it also offers Google Send-To-Car technology that allows owners to plan and send their route to the car before they leave the house.

Fuel prices

Drivers have complete access to Google's comprehensive Points of Interest (POI) database, and can also request weather forecasts, local fuel prices and flight information. Juke N-Tec models also feature Nissan Dynamic Control System, which allows the driver to select preferred driving dynamic modes, as well as change other functions such as climate control settings via the central touchscreen. Other standard equipment includes a reversing camera with colour display, automatic climate control and audio with Bluetooth compatibility and a USB port.

Buyers can choose from three engines – one diesel and two petrol – with the option of Nissan's 4x4i intelligent four-wheel drive with rear axle torque vectoring and the CVT transmission when ordered with the 1.6-litre DIG-T engine. The latter also gets a black interior headliner and a dual exit exhaust finisher to further mark it out.

The Juke N-Tec is on sale now starting from £16,295.

Prices fall for used cars – but are still ahead of last year

A Mini goes through a BCA auction where the headline average value fell by 0.7 per cent in March

THE latest figures from BCA on used car prices show that the headline average value declined by 0.7 per cent in March, although year-on-year values were up by more than 17 per cent.

For the fourth month running, average used car values remained at £7,000 or more.

Across the board, used cars averaged £7,000 last month, down by £56 compared to February but significantly ahead of March 2012 by £1,026 (17.1 per cent).

Fleet and lease values fell back slightly from the record levels achieved in February, while dealer part-exchange values climbed marginally.

However, post-Easter, buyer demand has weakened and conversion rates have fallen in the first week of April, suggesting there will be some pressure on values in the weeks ahead.

Simon Henstock, BCA's UK Operations Director, says: "Although average values continue at near record levels, prices are high, largely as a result of the constricted supply rather than strong demand."

"When seasonal variations result in the available volumes rising, the effects are quite quickly seen in the remarketing arena."

Nissan's Juke N-Tec model has extra hi-tech equipment inside and better looks outside

Mercedes-Benz unveils two more SLS stunners

One of the new Mercedes-Benz SLS models which have a top speed of 199mph and start at £165,030

AS if the standard car wasn't enough, Mercedes-Benz has opened the order books on two new SLS models – the GT and the Black Series.

On the GT model, which comes in coupe form, power has been increased by 20bhp to give a total of 582bhp, updates to the suspension give even sharper handling, while the dual-clutch transmission has revised software for faster shifts.

Thanks to the extra power and faster shifts, the SLS GT can hit 62mph from rest in 3.7 seconds and run on to 199mph. On the outside, discreet badges, a choice of alloy wheels and gloss black detailing mark it out as the GT version. Even more extreme is the SLS Black Series.

Traction

It has the same 6.3-litre V8 engine but uprated still further to produce 622bhp, cutting the 0-62mph time to only 3.6 seconds.

As well as additional power, the SLS Black Series is helped by a weight reduction of 70kg thanks to additional carbon fibre in the car's structure and cabin. A high-performance composite brakes system, flared wings and a new AMG titanium sports exhaust system all contribute to the race-car feel, and an electronically controlled AMG rear-axle differential gives maximum traction.

The SLS Black Series has 19in front and 20in rear twin-spoke forged bi-colour alloys, a carbon fibre front splitter and flicks on the front apron, and carbon fibre rear aerofoil and diffuser with two chrome twin tailpipes.

The new SLS AMG model line-up is available to order now – the SLS GT starts at £165,030, while the Black Series begins at £229,985.

New Audi a class act with great price tag

By Ian Donaldson

WONDERS will never cease. I've just been driving a new Audi that, wait for it, looks a bit of a bargain.

Not simply stylish with a wonderful interior, like nearly all Audis, but so keenly priced it makes the (slightly smaller) new VW Golf, which shares lots of its hidden oily bits with the Audi, look a little dear.

That's unlikely to dent sales of the latest Golf, just voted European Car of the Year by an enormous margin, but it might make the Audi planners wonder if they've under-priced their new baby.

Well, not so much a baby. This new five-door version of the A3 is called Sportback for some unfathomable reason and is longer than its three-door sibling. This releases useful legroom in the rear and helps the already decently sized boot accept a little more luggage. This extra space and two additional doors adds £620 over the three-door version, which sounds more than reasonable in 'AudiLand.'

Prices start at £19,825 for the car tested here and top out, for the moment, at £25,030 for an A3 Sportback with a powerful 1.8-litre petrol engine and automatic gearbox.

As ever, more versions, with more and less power can be expected, and there's Audi options' list to tempt as you configure your ideal car online during a coffee break at work.

It's a bit bigger than the old A3 Sportback, which suffered from arrested development in the rear seat legroom department, but more use of aluminium in place of pressed steel makes the newcomer usefully lighter. That ought to help fuel consumption.

Customers

Audi listened to its customers and read all the road tests of the old car and noted how often a hard ride came up in the demerits column. So you can carry over the softer suspension set-up of the SE model to the sportier looking Sport and S line, which otherwise come with lower, stiffer springing.

But hardly anyone does; overwhelmingly, buyers of the latest three-door A3 put the hunched down look above any thoughts of extra comfort. I might think they're daft, especially with the ever-worsening state of our roads, but it's their money.

I suspect that lots of buyers will take one look at the economy potential of the diesel-powered A3 and not even consider the petrol equivalent, which uses a bit more fuel, goes a little more slowly but costs £2,300 less.

If you're not planning inter-galactic mileages in your A3 you really ought to try the car with the peppery 1.4-litre 122 horsepower petrol engine. It's a little gem; smooth as cream and with a near diesel-like pull from low revs (thank a turbocharger for that) and returning 47mpg on a Cotswolds' jaunt at the car's press launch.

The standard, softer suspension gave the car all the poise you could ask for and was notably kinder on the spine than the set-up on a diesel Sport tried later. That car, over a shorter test route, actually proved thirstier (46mpg) than the petrol model.

From the way the dashboard air vents adjust to instruments so clear that you almost feel their readouts without looking, this new, larger, small Audi is a class act.

The Sportback's clearly laid out instrument panel

Prices range from £19,825 to £25,030 for the new A3 Sportback five-door

Juniors in search to get players

HEATH HAYES are on the lookout for junior football players ahead of the new season.

The current under-eights will become the under-nines next season and will be playing competitive league football for the first time in the Lichfield and District League.

They are looking for new players to join their two teams, Heath Hayes Blues and Heath Hayes Whites, and in particular want two goalkeepers.

The team currently train at Longford Junior School, Ascot Drive on Saturdays from 10am to 11.30am.

Interested players need to still be eight by August 31 this year.

Parents who are interested should ring 07710 541381 or 07411 778829 or turn up to training.

The under-13s will play in the Lichfield & District Recreational League and are looking for players in all positions.

Training currently takes place at the Liam Keeling Arena at Cardinal Griffin RC High School, from 7pm to 8pm on Tuesdays.

Anyone interested is asked to call 07710 545299.

Ten-man Hawkins hold on for trophy

Division Three Cup final
 HAWKINS Sports produced a fine all-round team performance to beat AFC Winding Wheel 2-1 after extra time.

Ross Brown opened the scoring for Hawkins, who were then reduced to 10 men and saw the Wheel equalise.

Hawkins held on to force extra time and notched the winner through Anthony Gibson as the Wheel lost their second final of the season.

The Gary Theo Cup was presented by his brother Steve to captain Keith Grimsley in front of a crowd of 118.

Premier Cup Final
 Champions Magic Lantern completed the double by coming from behind to beat Yates Sports 2-1. Ryan Wilks scored for Yates only to concede a penalty within minutes which was put away by Ash Billingham.

Just before half-time, Billingham scored his second to put the champions in front and allow captain Lee Knox to hold aloft the Heath Hayes Constitutional Cup.

Cannock Chase Cup semi-final
 First Division champions and

Chase League

League Cup winners Littleton are searching for a treble after knocking out Second Division Bar Sports 6-1.

A brace from John Austin and singles by Luke Andrews, Rich Tapper, Shaun Lilburn and Matty Allport eased them into another final.

History is against them – no team outside the Premier has won the trophy. In Sunday's final they face Premier League Brereton Lion with a 2pm kick-off.

Cannock Charity Cup semi-finals

Fifth Division Athletic Bridge rewrote the record books by becoming the first team from that level to reach the Charity Cup final in its 63-year history.

They knocked out Third Division Trafalgar 2-1. First-half goals by Liam Price and Tom Hinks put them two up at half-time. A penalty brought the Traf back into the game but the Bridge battled to reach tomorrow's final (7.30pm).

The Bridge will face Division Two's Victoria Athletic, who reached their second final of the season by putting out Hawkins Sport 3-2. Jamie Worrell (2) and Aeron Brown scored as Victoria try to go one better this time around.

Division Two

Champions CK Academy clinched the title in style by thrashing Mary Rose 13-0.

The star of the show was Dan Lomas who scored six goals to make it 40 for the season.

Division Five

Bridgtown Social were crowned champions without kicking a ball.

Jubilee needed to win their last game to pip Social to the title, only to lose 4-2 to third-placed Pied Piper.

Ugly loss as Egan can't beat the count

Egan now has a defeat on his record after five straight wins but can, at least, take some heart from the way he battled in what was an exciting and close-run contest.

The 29-year-old former Chasetown footballer will regret the way he traded with the Jamaican-born Londoner, a known heavy hitter, with the two all too eager to slug it out.

Egan had been caught with a right hook in the first round, before the same shot the other way blew out McKray's gum-shield in the second session.

He stung the ribs and marked the back of Egan in the fourth but he battled back before the fight-ended shot in the fifth.

Egan was helped onto his stool and given oxygen but recovered to leave the ring under his own steam.

Future looks bright after Wyrley win

Wyrley Juniors United U12 3 Football Futures U12 1

UNITED managed a Lichfield Youth League Division Two double against a determined and competitive Futures team which saw them leapfrog their opponents to finish third.

Futures pressed in the first 10 minutes, with United's defence and midfield having to work hard. Tom Peacock defended well with Jack Addison secure in goal.

Wyrley scored against the run of play when Liam Morley's corner bounced to Tom Wheeldon who volleyed in.

Callum Holliday added another and in the second half Zak Hallett's pass saw Wheeldon lob the keeper for 3-0. Futures got one back.

Students shine after tour and pick up cup

STUDENTS from Cheslyn Hay returned from a trip to Barcelona with a winning mentality as they took the Staffordshire County Cup.

Head of Year eight at the Sports and Community High School, Chris Barker, described the tour of Barcelona's 99,000-seater Camp Nou stadium as 'magical'.

He said: "We all came back on the Friday evening, then we played Bright Bridge in the final the next day. It was a special occasion to play against them in the final."

"We beat them 4-2 on penalties, and all the students' parents came across to see their children become champions."

The trip to Barcelona has become a tradition for the school since Barker organised the first tour nine years ago.

More than 83 people journeyed to Spain, including 70 pupils, eight members of staff and five sixth-formers.

Barker said: "I have been taking students on this trip for over nine years."

"It was a great experience we did it for the kids and for the staff's own enjoyment."

"We believe it's a good way to build relationships with them, as we try to have fun, and in return the pupils are willing to go that extra mile for you."

The boys and girls took part in a number of sporting activities against local

by Lewis Deakin

Spanish teams. Barker believes the students did themselves proud.

He said: "The boys and girls competed well against some of the local Spanish teams in hockey and football. We won and lost a few games. In one game we won 4-3 and in another we won 6-5."

Then it was onto the tour, where students saw everything from the dressing room and dugouts to the media centre.

Barker admits there is no better location for the students.

He said: "We picked Spain due to its prominence in domestic and international competitions. It's a great holiday destination, a bit of sport and sun. What could be better than that?"

Cheslyn Hay celebrate after winning the Staffordshire County Cup following a penalty shoot-out with Bright Bridge

Match action after Cheslyn Hay, in blue, marched out to play Saint Celoni during the school's trip to Barcelona

Qualifying round for bowlers

THE next round of qualifying matches in the £650 JenningsBet Frank Turner Memorial Over-60s bowling competition will be held at the weekend.

The action starts on Saturday at 6.15pm with a further 16 competitors in the line-up.

Club get ready for contest of sevens

RUGELEY Rugby Club are gearing up for their annual sevens tournament next month.

The Ansons LLP Sevens, sponsored by Cannock law firm Ansons for a second successive year, will take place on June 8 at St Augustine's Field.

The competition is now in its fourth year and will see teams from across Staffordshire take part.

Teams entering this year include Burntwood, Wheaton Ashton, Eccleshall, Barton under Needwood, Whittington and Stafford.

Defending champions Cannock are looking for a third successive victory. The Rugeley tournament's success has led to the creation of the Staffordshire Sevens series.

Events in the series are held across the county in Cannock, Wednesbury and Trentham.

Rugeley Rugby Club chairman Carl Johnson said: "It is great when a local business is prepared to get behind a community-based rugby club."

Unbeaten Lakeside claim title

LAKESIDE Under-nines won their last two games of the season to wrap up the Mid-Staffs Premier League title.

They beat Eccleshall Eagles Gold 3-1 and Stafford Town Panthers 1-0, both hard-fought victories.

They won 25 out of 26 games, drawing the other to go unbeaten.

Lakeside also scored 102 goals and had the league's best defensive record.

They will finish off the season with a tour to Cleethorpes during May Bank Holiday weekend to try their hand against teams from all over the UK.

Manager Spike Walters thanked both parents and players for their support, saying of his squad: "They've shown ability beyond their years and have been superb all season, with such a charismatic attitude. "They are a pleasure to coach."

Penkridge can't bridge gap in defeat

Penkridge 248-8, Bridgnorth 201-3. Bridgnorth won by seven wickets

PENKRIDGE firsts fell to earth with a thump as they lost to Bridgnorth in a rain-affected game on Saturday.

After losing the toss, Penkridge made a poor start to this Birmingham and District Division Three match.

But they were indebted to Ronnie Hassan (126) who held the innings together with a superb century.

Quickfire contributions from Laeq Chishti (39) and Paul Sze-czyk (28) led Penkridge to a very respectable total of 248-8 off their 50 overs.

After several interruptions throughout the day due to the weather, Bridgnorth were set 201 for victory off 36 overs.

They lost two early wickets, but then eased to a comfortable seven-wicket victory with the Shropshire pair of James Ralph (86) and Jono Whitney (70 not out) inflicting the damage on a below-par Penkridge attack.

Brewood 104, Penkridge 105-1. Penkridge won by nine wickets

with their 100 per cent winning start to the season by demolishing local rivals Brewood at Pillaton.

After the match was delayed by the rain, Brewood won the toss and elected to bat.

This was a decision they were soon left to regret as the Penkridge bowlers were quickly among the wickets.

Gary Pope took 2-24, Andy Lawson 3-21 and the returning Ade Manning 3-9 as Brewood were bowled out for just 104 off 28 overs. Penkridge made light work of their reply as they raced to a nine-wicket victory inside just nine overs.

Matt Jones led the charge with 56 not out off only 27 balls and Andy Lawson blasted 33 not out off just 21 deliveries.

■ Penkridge thirds' game with Bloxwich was abandoned without a ball bowled.

Penkridge 247-8 declared, Beacon 37-5. Draw

In another rain-affected game, Penkridge fourths took the majority of the spoils as they gained a winning draw against Beacon fourths. After losing the toss and being put in, Penkridge made a good start.

Skipper James Heaton hit an excellent 111 to lead the way.

He was well supported by Ali Sadaq (34) and youngster Bradley Morris (37) as Penkridge amassed 247-8 from 40 overs before declaring.

Beacon's reply was cut short due to the weather as they clung on for the losing draw.

They had been in deep water at 37-5 from 20 overs with two wickets apiece for Sadaq and Sunil Manazhy.

Scholars find going too hot in the Daniels' den

Stamford 2 Chasetown 1

CHASETOWN fell at the final promotion hurdle after a gutsy performance against fourth-placed Stamford.

The play-off final defeat ended the Scholars' hopes of elevation from Evo-Stik Division One South for this season, writes Paul Mullins.

The hosts scored after three minutes. Chasetown conceded a free-kick just outside the penalty area and Danny Brooks rifled his shot into the roof of Ryan Price's net.

Stamford's Ricky Miller was a whisker wide in the first few minutes and Chasetown really hadn't got going, and were struggling to stay in the game.

Ironically, it was a head injury to captain Richard Teesdale that gave the Scholars some respite, after which they took control of the game themselves.

He carried on but later revealed he was oblivious at times to what was going on around him.

Chance

The visitors deservedly equalised when Gary Hay advanced outside the penalty area and his right-foot shot curled just inside Matt Finlay's right hand post.

Danny Bragoli flashed a free-kick just wide as The Scholars took control and will think they should have been leading at half-time.

Hay fashioned a chance for Nick Wellecome and Chase's leading marksman scraped the outside of the post with an effort.

Hay, who had missed some games recently, was a thorn in the Stamford defence and Finlay had to rush out from goal to deny him when he would otherwise have been clean through.

Finlay clattered into Hay, but the referee waved away strong penalty appeals.

The half ended with Chasetown on top. Tesfa Robinson was a whisker away from getting on the end of a Hay header back across goal and then Stamford's Richard Jones almost sliced into his own net.

At the start of the second period, Teesdale headed wide but that was about Chasetown's last serious threat as the Daniels took over and the Scholars tired.

Roared on by most of the 861 crowd, Stamford looked the fitter side and it was no surprise when striker Ricky Miller hit the winner.

Stamford: Finlay, Wright, S Saunders, Maddox, Jones, Richardson (B Saunders 79), Hall, Brooks, Miller (Richards 90+2), Hempstead, Byrne (Ozmen 64). Subs not used: Batchelor, Staff.

Chasetown: Price, Farmer, Jackson (Harris 85), Slater, Tesfa Robinson, Teesdale (Butler 64), Smith, Bragoli, Wellecome, Hay (Brown 75), Theo Robinson. Subs not used: Branch, Kisiel.

New-boys prove too much in rainy loss

Quatt (20pts) 237-8, Cannock (4pts) 137. Quatt won by 66 runs (adjusted)

AFTER winning their first two Birmingham and District Division Three games, Cannock were brought down to earth when they visited league newcomers Quatt.

Winning the toss and batting first, the home team reached 237-8, with opener Ian Gregory last man out for 106. Ed Fleet and Maurice Holmes were the pick of Cannock's bowlers.

After several rain interruptions, Cannock were faced with a daunting adjusted target of 220 from 40 overs. Richie Hewitt (21) and Carl Whyte (17) saw them ahead of the run rate, but the pressure of scoring at 5.5 an over saw wickets fall and only a late innings by Fleet (34) enabled them to reach 137 off just 29 overs. Cannock 242-7, Rushall 133-7. Draw

Rain had a large say in this game, but Cannock thirds took a winning draw at Rushall.

Cannock, put in, scored well with Craig Squire, Mike Chadderton and Tom Bull all making 43 and Ryan Peach 37 as they closed on 242-7 from their 50 overs.

Skipper Paul Hopkinson was the pick of the Rushall bowlers, taking 4-69.

Two wickets in the first three overs of Rushall's reply reduced them to 5-2 before the heavens opened.

Their innings was reduced to 32 overs and Nick Dennant (27), Matt Jones (37) and Shaun Allsop (37 not out) tried hard to secure them the winning draw but Cannock's bowlers toiled hard (Ant Wood 3-55, Elliott Horton 2-30) and claimed the greater share of the points to remain top.

■ Cannock under-nines had three close games at Aldridge. Wickets for Niall Murphy and Ben Gould restricted the hosts to a net total of 231. Cannock struggled against accurate bowling and fell 19 runs short. Cannock battered first against Hawkins and boundaries from Max Goddard and Ben Gould helped them to 225 net. Cannock bowled well and wickets for Hannah Wood and Ethan Left-ows plus three run-outs left Hawkins 14 shy.

Cannock reached 231 net against Fordhouses. But with three overs left in the reply, Fordhouses were level. Cannock needed wickets, but Fordhouses held on and won by 12 runs.

Glory witnessed by record numbers

Hednesford 2 FC United of Manchester 1

A RECORD crowd saw Hednesford Town give a hit play-off performance.

The Pitmen earned a place in Conference North with victory over FC United of Manchester as 4,412 people jammed into Keys Park, writes Scott Smith.

Goals from Neil Harvey and Jamey Osborne in the first half were enough to see Town over the line despite Mike Norton reducing the arrears in the second period as the visitors were left to rue a third straight play-off final defeat.

The Pitmen made the perfect start when they opened the scoring after just 88 seconds. Evo-Stik League player of the year Elliott Durrell got to the byline; United failed to deal with his low cross and Harvey slammed the ball home.

In poor weather, both sides failed to play in the way they wanted with the wind dictating where the ball would end up on more than one occasion. Despite this, Hednesford were able to make it 2-0 on the half-hour mark.

Michael Lennon pounced on a loose ball in the corner and picked out Harvey, who in turn set up Osborne to slot the ball into the corner of the net.

Keys Park was now rocking, although right on the stroke of half-time things could have been quietened a little had Oliver Banks not blazed over from 12 yards out. United managed to find a way back into the game after 56 minutes. They won a corner and from it Norton was given all the time in the world to plant a header home.

Hednesford were on the back foot and three minutes later Matthew Wolfenden struck the bar for United, while Banks drilled a free-kick just wide of the Hednesford upright. The game was now end to end and in the 75th minute FC felt they should have had a penalty for an infringement on Norton. Sixty seconds later, Durrell struck the post at the other end following a free-kick into the penalty area.

Hednesford might have extended their lead as first Durrell was denied by Kyle Jacobs before Nathan Woolfe blazed over the bar but it did not matter as Town saw out time to earn their place in the Conference North.

Afterwards, manager Rob Smith praise his players for the way they bounced back are not winning the Evo-Stik Northern Premier title.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Disney, Campion, Bailey, Francis, Macpherson, Osborne, Durrell, Harvey (Woolfe 90+3), Lennon (Rey 66), Taylor.

FC United of Manchester: Worsnop, Jacobs, Neville, Birch (Tierney 77), Scott, Masirika (Cottenill 42), Wolfenden, Banks, Norton, Wright, Mulholland (Greaves 42).

Blundell is hungry for more wins

HEDNESFORD runner Mitch Blundell is back in action this weekend – and hungry for more success, writes Lewis Deakin.

Blundell, who triumphed in the recent AAA Staffordshire 5,000metre championship in Stoke, has a track race in Telford on Saturday and a 10km race in Manchester on May 26.

Now he hopes the Stoke victory will give him an edge for the rest of the season.

He said: "I was determined to get the season off to a good start."

"It wasn't a fast time, but in a tactical race it's just about getting the result."

Blundell opened up a lead with four laps to go and took his first county championship in 17 years of racing.

He said: "I haven't done much track training, as I have focused on road running. To win a track race wasn't something I expected to do so early in the season."

Norton take home Shield

Lea Hall U11 1
Norton Canes U11 6

A SPLENDID team performance saw Norton Canes lift the Endeavour Shield.

Norton started well, Calum Ashford scoring direct from a corner and two more goals followed from Jack Tongue and Luke Roberts.

After Ben Kendrick kicked a Lea Hall a shot off the line, Tongue and Roberts each got their second goals.

Lea Hall got a consolation, but Tom Chester's fine finish wrapped it up.

Norton Canes are looking to strengthen the Under-11 side – call 07401 922393 – and have a Saturday academy for four to six-year-olds – call 07950 593082.

Joy for Hednesford as Jamey Osborne strikes to put the Pitmen two up

PITMEN PRIDE

Invitation goes out to the fans

FANS have been given an open invitation to attend tomorrow night's presentation evening at Keys Park.

The Birmingham Senior Cup, Staffordshire Senior Cup and play-off trophy will be on display.

Other awards, including the goal of the season, will be made. Entry is free and will include a buffet. It starts at 7.30pm.

Club secretary Terry McMahon said: "We really have had a superb season."

ROB SMITH will sit down this week to discuss a new deal after leading Hednesford Town back to the Blue Square North division.

The Pitmen secured promotion on Saturday with a 2-1 Evo-Stik Northern League Premier play-off final win over FC United of Manchester in front of a packed crowd of 4,412 at Keys Park.

It marks a return to Conference level for the Pitmen after seven years of failed promotion attempts following relegation in 2006.

Smith is out of contract in the summer but is confident he will be staying ahead of his meeting with chairman Steve Price.

He said: "We have left any discussions of a new deal till the end of the season to ensure everyone was fully focused on the task in hand. I can't see there being any issues and I'm looking forward to building on what we've done this season."

"I think in many ways the club is back where it belongs, that's where it should be and it's important we keep it there. I won't be looking to bring

Now boss must sort out new deal after promotion sealed

by Matt Maher

in a huge amount of new faces, I think the lads who got us promoted are good enough and deserve the chance to take us forward."

First-half goals from Neil Harvey and Jamey Osborne were enough to see Hednesford through, but it was a nervy finish after Mike Norton pulled one back for the visitors early in the second half.

Saturday's win was a case of fourth time lucky for the Pitmen, who had suffered defeat in the play-offs the previous three seasons. This year they only missed out on the title on goal difference but Smith believes the atmosphere and ultimate jubilation of winning the play-offs made everything worthwhile.

He added: "It's one thing to win the league, but I don't think anything compares to going up by the play-offs. That is the way to do it. We have had our fair share of play-off heartache."

"It's always difficult when you have just missed out on the league. In many ways you feel things are destined to go against you, but we managed to pull it round. It was fantastic to see the ground so full; it was an incredible attendance for our level of football and I think it was a brilliant advert for the non-league game."
